ALASKAN DOGS WINNING IN RACE WITH EPIDEMIC

Life Giving Anti-toxin Is Nearing Nome; Airplane Flight Abandoned

BULLETIN

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Jan. 31.—Leonard Seppella, champion musher of the north, was nearing his goal late today, bringing precious anti-toxin to diphtheria-stricken Nome. He had come close to Unalaklet, traveling at a terrific rate of speed, when word was last flashed here from the interior. Unalakalet is about 150 miles from Nome, but the dogs were expected to dash across Norton bay, thus cutting off close to one-fourth of the distance to Nome.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Jan. 31.—With precious serum to save the lives of scores, including many children, dying in Nome, Alaska, Leonard Seppella, world's champion dog derby racer, was winning his race against death today.

A wireless message here reported that Seppella left Kaltag, about 300 miles from Nome, yesterday afternoon, and he expected to come to the end of the trail some time this afternoon.

It was figured here by pioneers of the north that with good luck Seppella and his fast dogs would reach the stricken city at about o'clock this afternoon.

This would make the record time of the mushing dogs across the frozen trail from Nenana to Nome, a distance of more than 1,000 miles, total eighty-six hours.

Seppella, his friends said here, would probably make the last grind to the end of the trail without difficulty. He has to pass across blizzard-out-Norton bay but strung along the way are three roadhouses where he may stop for brief rest and food.

The three roadhouses are twenty-five miles apart on this side of the bay and will furnish a chance to feed boiled rice and salmon to

HOUSE DISPUTES SENATE AUTHORITY

Representatives Deny Right Of Upper Body to Initiate Postal Rate Raise

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The House ways and means committee today adopted a resolution declaring that the Senate had no right under the constitution to initiate legislation increasing postal rates. Challenging the authority of the Senate in enacting the Moses omnibus postal bill, the committee decided to pigeonhole the Senate bill when it reaches the House on Monday and to ask the House postal committee to bring out a similar bill independent of that passed by the Senate. By this procedure administration leaders of the House hope to be able to enact legislation at this session increasing the pay of postal employes.

COMMITTEE TO BUY RADIOS NEXT WEEK MAIL SUBSCRIPTIONS

Last Call for Contributions to Fund To Make Firemen Happy; Send In Your Check to News Today

The funds donated by the residents of Glendale through The Glendale Evening News for the purchase of radio receiving sets for the fire stations in the city will be turned over to the purchasing committee, composed of presidents of the various service clubs, next week.

Glendalians who have not contributed to this worthy cause, and desire to assist in the movement to make the long, dreary hours firemen spend waiting for the gong to sound that will send them to face untold dangers, are asked to mail their checks for the fund today, or leave their contributions at the office of The Glendale Evening News, 139 South Brand boulevard.

The response to the appeal for funds to be used in securing the radio receiving sets has demonstrated that Glendalians believe in making the lives of employes of the fire department as pleasant as possible. The donations have come from business firms, wealthy individuals, and even from the greatest friends of the firemen—the children.

Spirit of Co-operation

The spirit of co-operation—the spirit that today makes Glendale known throughout the world as "the fastest growing city in America,"—has been evidenced in the contributions.

Among the list of contributors added today is Paul Holland, 7 years' old, of 438 West Maple avenue. The letter, addressed to "Dear Firemen," follows:

"I read in The Glendale Evening News about getting a radio, and I thought I would like to help you. So I asked my 'daddy' if I could have $.50 to help you out. I am 7 years old and hope to be in the A-3 in school next week. I think I will be promoted because I get good marks on my card. I have to eat my supper now, so I will have to say 'so long.' P. S.—I hope you get your radio."

NEW PROPOSAL ON DEBT IS AWAITED

French Ambassador Gives Coolidge New Hopes for Early Settlement

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The hope and expectation prevailed among administration officials that France shortly will approach the United States with a definite, concrete proposition for the discharge of her $4,000,000,000 war debts.

No other interpretation, they said, could be placed on the first official statement made in this country by the new French ambassador, Emile Daeschner. In this statement, made to President Coolidge in person, the ambassador said France was "firmly solicitious of paying her material debts." The president, in reply, assured M. Daeschner that this statement gave him "deep satisfaction."

Acute Situation

The acuteness of the Franco-American debt controversy could hardly have been more strikingly illustrated, for it is unusual, if not unprecedented, for an ambassador to refer thus pointedly to an existing diplomatic problem at the moment he is presenting his credentials.

Under the circumstances, administration officials said they accepted the French ambassador's statement at its face value, and interpreted it as constituting a formal pledge that France will pay.

France's "material debt" consists of slightly in excess of

MILK PRICES TO ADVANCE ONE CENT

Increased Cost of Feed Is Assigned as Cause for Jump In Glendale

The price of milk goes up 1 cent tomorrow, announced Smith MacMullin, manager of the Glendale Creamery Co., 755 West Doran street. Pints will now retail for 9 cents and quarts 15 cents.

Whipping cream took a jump of 5 cents, and will now retail at 35 cents a half pint. Grade A cream has not been raised and will continue to retail at 17 cents a half pint. Wholesale prices have been very slightly affected, he said.

The reason assigned by Mr. MacMullin for the raise, which was ordered by the California Producers' association, is the high price of feed for cows. The price will probably stay at that level for some time. Last fall milk retailed in Glendale at 10 cents a pint and 17 cents a quart, Mr. MacMullin recalled.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—Charles Chaplin's child bride of but two months, Lita Grey, wants her famous comedian husband to provide a trust fund of from $100,000 to $500,000 for their child, yet to be born.

This is the purpose of the negotiations which have been under way for the past ten days between Lloyd Wright, Chaplin's attorney, and Edwin McMurray, San Francisco attorney and uncle of Mrs. Chaplin, it was learned today from an authoritative source.

The comedian's attitude, according to this same source of information, is that he is keenly desirous of making adequate financial provision for his child, if one is born, but, at the same time, he is said to believe that a monetary arrangement in behalf of a child yet to be born is somewhat premature.

Seeks Trust Fund

A person close to Chaplin, and whose version of the affair may be regarded as that of the comedian's "spokesman," stated that Mrs. Chaplin had approached her husband's attorneys with the proposition to establish the trust fund for the unborn baby which is expected to arrive soon. The

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE IN GERMANY

Newspapers Take Up Issue Citing Failure In U. S. To Offset Claims

By WALTER DIETZEL
For International News Service.

BERLIN, Jan. 31.—During the election campaign Germany's "Anti-Saloon league" stepped forth from obscurity with an extensive program, which, should it be carried out, would render Germany dryer than the United States.

The League admittedly does not command a large force, its registered members totaling to about 20,000 Germans. So, since an appeal to the nation or a prohibition ticket would not have hit home, the league started propaganda among the Reichstag members-elect by submitting to them, in a confidential letter, the following demands:

"First—It should be prohibited to use corn, maize, sugar, potatoes, fruit or other foodstuff for manufacture of alcoholic drinks, except to an extent required for medical or liturgic purposes.

"Second—Import of alcoholic drinks from abroad should be prohibited, in consideration of the instability of the German currency.

"Third—All breweries and distilleries to be nationalized and transformed into foodstuff factories.

"Fourth—All bars and restaurants to be taken over or managed by the government and transformed into anti-alcoholic-dining halls.

"Fifth—Strictest prohibition of serving out alcoholic drinks to persons under age.

"Sixth—During a transition-period existing licenses should be curtailed to five years and pending licenses should not be granted unless approved by a referendum of the respective community.

"Seventh—During a transition-period between now and definite prohibition, alcoholic drinks should not be served out on Saturdays and the preceding night, pay days, election days and the two preceding nights."

The New Beliner Zeitung publishing the letter comments upon it as follows:

"Undoubtedly some of these demands, especially those referring to persons under age, are reasonable and should be approved, but others certainly shoot beyond their aim. The prohibition movement aims at making Germany a dry country along the lines it has been done in the States. We know, however, that prohibition over there resulted in increased secret 'booze' and multiplication of prices for alcoholic drinks of questionable quality. It is obvious that such a change for the worse is nowhere desirable."

ECONOMY PLEA IS MADE FOR SCHOOL

G. W. Wilkins Says There Must Exist Actual Need To Favor Bonds

Editor The Evening News—Having read J. C. Sherer's article in last evening's News on the question of school bonds that will be voted on Feb. 17, I will say, that the article impressed me with the suggestion for serious thought that it conveyed, and enlightenment on our present demand.

The demand for school bonds has been coming almost too often and are beyond the demands of necessity.

Will some one kindly inform me why we have been supplying funds to build and furnish quarters, and pay extra salaries for instructors, coaches and assistants for athletic, social and amusement clubs in connection with our public schools—is it necessary?

If the money voted for school construction were confined to the actual needs of education, instead of elaborating and expanding by building expensive structures with furnishings, for amusements, athletic sports, etc., there would not exist a feeling of dissatisfaction, or inclination not to contribute.

Common Feeling

This feeling does exist, and to a greater extent than is generally known, but it is not expressed in public by the individual on account of his or her fear of some one "higher up" or in control of the present situation, that might bring adverse conditions to bear.

The public is gradually awakening to the magnitude and weight of the bond burden and are considering the issues more seriously, and for this reason it is getting to be more difficult to successfully vote bonds for schools. There must be an actual necessity existing.

The public should support the schools for educational purposes, but the parents should supply the amusements, sports, etc., for their children.

I am in favor of schools, and plenty of them, but demands for funds should be within reason.

Respectfully,
GEO. W. WILKINS.

INFORMATION IS GIVEN OUT ON BONDS

Committee Issues Facts and Figures In Form of Questions, Answers

The publicity committee in charge of the campaign for the $2,400,000 school bonds submits the following to The Glendale Evening News for publication:

Need of Bond Issue

QUESTION: What is the need of the Bond Issue?

ANSWER: (a) The Board of Education of the city of Glendale and the Board of Trustees of the Glendale Union High school have been endeavoring to keep up with the growth of Glendale in the matter of building schools. The money from the previous bond issues for both systems has been spent or incumbered for land, buildings and equipment, and the boards find themselves without further building funds and with the schools in an overcrowded condition.

(b) There is, further, the very urgent need of securing necessary elementary and high school sites NOW while there is unsubdivided land suitably located for school purposes still available and at reasonable prices.

High School

(c) The Broadway plant is incomplete in class rooms, shop buildings and gymnasiums.

(d) At the present rate of growth the high school must be prepared to care for 4000 students for the school year, beginning September, 1927, and a new school will be absolutely required to house them. It is entirely safe to say that by the time the new high school is ready (about two and one-half years hence) there will immediately be placed in it approximately 1000 students, leaving the Broadway plant filled to its maximum capacity.

Elementary Schools

(e) Since December, 1917, the enrollment in the elementary schools of Glendale has grown from 1426 to 5512, a growth of 286 per cent in seven years. Under these conditions it has been absolutely impossible to provide grounds, buildings and equipment at a rapid enough rate to keep up with the growth. Hence we find that the schools are nearly all badly overcrowded.

(f) The Wilson intermediate school, having a normal capacity of about 400, now has enrolled 712. To meet this condition it has been necessary to place on the grounds three portable bungalows, and to rent the former Seventh-day Adventist school on Isabel street between Wilson and California, and the board is now preparing to use as a school room the shop formerly used by our repair men. Also the school auditorium is in use as a class room almost every period each day.

(g) The elementary schools enrolling the grades from the kindergarten through the sixth are in just as bad condition. In these schools there are twenty-two rooms enrolling approximately 800 children, operating on the half-day basis, and an equal number housed in temporary quarters. At the present rate of growth this condition will of course be decidedly worse by the time school opens in September, 1925.

Plea for Tree Fund Answered Generously

Mrs. R. W. Meeker of Glendale, chairman of the Redwood Memorial Grove fund of Los Angeles district, California Federation of Women's Clubs, expressed gratification today for response to the fund plea she is making for her illustrated lecture. Mrs. Meeker is busy and her efforts are being rewarded by generous contributions to the Redwood fund.

Last night she spoke at the La Puente high school under the auspices of the La Puente Women's club. One hundred dollars was raised for the fund. At a recent lecture at the Shakespeare clubhouse in Pasadena another $100 was raised. She has spoken recently at Santa Barbara, Santa Monica and Carpinteria. Cooperating with Mrs. Meeker is Mrs. Martella Lane, painter of redwoods, who has given one of her tree pictures for the school raising the most money for the memorial fund. Next week Mrs. Meeker speaks at Covina and at the Hollenbeck Park Ebell club.

ATWATER CITIZENS TO DECIDE ISSUE

Question of Light Standards Will Be Discussed Monday Night; Rowley to Talk on Highways, Bridges

Fireworks are expected when the Atwater Community Improvement association meets Monday night and residents of cross streets living north of Glendale boulevard bring up the matter of ornamental street lights. Two or more patent light-post concerns are circulating petitions among property owners of that section, it is declared, in a scramble to land contracts on proposed work.

Many residents are bitterly opposed to the product of one of these concerns, and plan on venting their wrath before the association members assembled in regular meeting Monday night. Representatives of the light-standard companies are expected to be present at the session to vie with one another for the Atwater contracts.

L. T. Rowley, chairman of the highways and bridges committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, will be the main speaker on the program Monday night. He will talk on greater highway and bridge facilities for the lower San Fernando valley and adjacent areas. Mr. Rowley's appearance at the Atwater meeting will be the first move towards more intercommunication and co-operation between civic organizations of Atwater and Glendale, a condition that is being diligently sought by officials of the improvement association. President Arthur M. Gilman will preside at the meeting, to be held at the Neighborhood Christian church on Edenhurst avenue.

Start Construction Soon

Work on the new plant of the Los Angeles Electrical Construction Co., to be located on Glendale boulevard, between Madera and Garden avenues, will be commenced at the earliest possible moment, so that it will be ready for occupancy by May 1 or earlier, it was announced today by P. E. Lipscomb, representing the Arthur M. Gilman Co., builders.

Organize New Classes

Organization of new classes for the spring semester at the Atwater Grammar school will take place Monday. A large number of new kindergarten pupils and first-graders will more than fill the places left vacant by the graduation of twenty-four members of the eighth grade Thursday night, according to anticipations of Miss Rosalind Gates, principal. All new students should present themselves for enrollment on Monday, as classes will be made up and all assignments given during the day, Miss Gates said. One new teacher, Miss Vivian Simpson, will augment the school staff during the next semester.

Lodge Officials to Meet

Paul E. Lipscomb, J. E. Noble, and L. E. Chapman, constituting the committee on organization of the proposed Atwater Masonic lodge, will meet with high officials of the Masonic order at luncheon Monday at the Biltmore hotel, Los Angeles, and will seek definite sanction for the new lodge. Information concerning the population of the Atwater and adjacent districts, proximity to existing Masonic lodge boundaries, and other necessary information will be presented before the Los Angeles Masonic club officials at this meeting. There was no meeting of Masons of the Atwater district last night, further work of organization being held up pending the session on Monday.

Police Blotter Shows Variety of Offenses

An attempt was made late last night to enter the house of H. C. Harshman, 1106 East Palmer avenue, Glendale police report. A bicycle was stolen last night from the porch of the W. E. Sawyer home, 358 Riverdale drive. The wheel belonged to Howard Sawyer, their son, according to reports on file at police headquarters today.

C. C. Fuller of 350 Arroyo Seco avenue, Los Angeles, was brought to headquarters last night on suspicion of drunkenness, and was examined by Dr. G. Kaemmerling, who pronounced him under the influence of liquor. The man spent the night in headquarters jail and will appear today before Judge Frank H. Lowe of the Glendale police court.

Dr. Harry A. Miller of Montrose was injured last night in an automobile accident at Broadway and Verdugo road. He was taken to the Glendale hospital, where he was treated for cuts and bruises, and sent home.

Harry Clampett of 819 South Glendale avenue, reported to the police an assault made on his wife last night, while she was removing clothes from the line. Her assailant rushed up in the dark and attempted to strangle her, Mrs. Clampett said.

NEW ENGLAND SOCIETY IS FORMED

One Hundred and Thirty Ex-Residents of Northeast Get Together

Formal organization of the Glendale New England society took place last night with a meeting and banquet at the First Congregational church at which one-hundred and thirty people were present. Dr. E. L. Fiske, who was appointed temporary president at the first meeting of former New Englanders held January 9, presided. Permanent officers elected were: Dr. E. L. Fiske, president; Arthur Clark Terrill, vice-president; F. D. Warner, secretary; Mr. Rounds, treasurer. E. W. W. Hayward, Mrs. Lillian Dow and Mrs. G. A. Whittaker are members of the board of governors. Plans were made to hold meetings once each month.

Guests were seated at tables decorated with bouquets of marigolds and sweetpeas. On the table at which the officers were seated was a miniature "Mayflower" made of pink and white carnations and ferns. Place cards with the names of the people and the state from which they came were used.

Ex-Governor Present

The By-laws drawn up by the organization were read by Mr. Rounds, treasurer. Ex-Governor Frederick W. Plaisted of Maine, who is spending the winter at Tujunga, and may decide to locate here, was present for the gathering and also gave a talk. Mr. Plaisted told how he became governor of Maine and in his talk told incidents of interest to New Englanders.

Rev. C. M. Calderwood, pastor of the Congregational church, spoke, telling of New England and gave interesting incidents of his college life. Glendale New Englanders from Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts were present. Mrs. G. A. FORBES FOUND GUILTY WITH THOMPSON

Ex-Head Veterans' Bureau 'Stunned' as He Faces Prison for Fraud

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Colonel Charles R. Forbes and John W. Thompson, found guilty in federal court of defrauding the government, will carry their fight on "to the supreme court if necessary," their attorneys announced today.

Forbes was once chief of the veterans' bureau and a trusted friend of the late President Harding, while Thompson is a wealthy St. Louis and Chicago contractor.

Following the reading of the verdict by the jury late yesterday, both men were stunned, and for several minutes there was absolute silence in the courtroom. The court was adjourned to allow them to regain their composure.

Defendants Moved

Forbes, who insisted all through the trial he wanted to take the stand, but did not, sat at the table facing the jury, visibly trembling, his face flushed. Thompson, gray haired, immaculately groomed, was plainly moved.

Forbes, now facing a sentence of two years in prison or a $10,000 fine, or both, is only half through with government prosecutors. He is scheduled to go on trial in Baltimore the latter part of February on a charge of looting the Perryville, Md., supply depot of the veterans' bureau.

QUALITY CARS AT LOWER PRICES

It is interesting to note that the remarkable price revisions recently announced on all enclosed models of the Packard Six were made in the midst of one of the most prosperous years the Packard Motor Car Company has ever enjoyed.

The Revised Prices, at Detroit

Five Passenger Sedan ($790 reduction)	$2585
Seven Passenger Sedan ($840 reduction)	2785
Five Passenger Sedan Limousine ($640 reduction)	2785
Seven Passenger Sedan Limousine ($790 reduction)	2885
Four Passenger Coupe ($690 reduction)	2585
Five Passenger Coupe ($765 reduction)	2685

Many will ask how such unusual price reductions can be made without to the slightest extent sacrificing anything in the car—beauty of line, perfection of finish or quality in either chassis or body.

An interest rate of 8 per cent per annum, with the added and important feature of "safety," is a very handsome return. After the 8 per cent has been paid on the preferred stock, then the common stock participates in the surplus earnings of the Corporation.

And it is very reasonable to presume, with the capable management this corporation has, that the common stock will pay two or three times the dividend paid on the preferred.

But, after all is said and done, the investor wants to know that his or her investment is "safe," and it is the earnest belief of the officers and directors of this corporation that money loaned on California Real Estate, properly appraised, is the safest investment in the world, and as sound as the Rock of Gibraltar.

You can invest for only $20 down and $10 a month, and you will receive interest on each partial payment.

CLEANER JOURNALISM

Harry A. Wheeler, first president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in an address before the annual meeting of the Chicago Association of Commerce, analyzed some of the needs of Chicago. A feature of his address was an appeal for a cleaner and more representative press for Chicago. He said:

"I wonder if the press has come to believe that so far as Chicago is concerned and her citizens that we would rather read the nauseating story of crime than we would the good things that are transpiring here every day in our lives. Evil is not the only news. * * * What are we doing? We are trying to make better citizens and the textbook that we are reading in order to make better citizens is the story of crime and all the other evil that goes with the world in its making. That is not the sort of education that we really ought to have, and with all of the sympathy that we can possibly show for the press as a great business agency, desiring to give to their public what the public wants, can't the public show the press that what it really wants is decency and not indecency?"

Writers of today all the way down the line from the novelist, the dramatist and the short story writer to the cub reporter and the sob sister seem to take the view that since there is evil and sordidness in the world, only the shameful side of life should be pictured in fiction and in the day's news. To show the good and noble traits of humanity is mawkish sentimentality. Neither the Pollyanna life nor the all-evil life is true to nature, but authors and writers would better err in picturing the individual who is too good to be human. The books of the late Mrs. Jean Stratton Porter are not characterized by great literary merit and her characters, as a general rule, are "too good to be true," but the works of scarcely any contemporary fiction writer have been so popular or so widely read as those of Mrs. Porter. People will read the sentimental rather than the sordid when they can get it.

This is not the first time the newspapers of Chicago have heard an appeal for less crime news. And there is a growing sentiment in many other cities against the kind of news that some papers print. It has been proved that clean journalism pays, but if the evil influence of too much advertising of crime is to be overcome, the reading public will have to make itself heard and felt. The newspapers of Chicago are attacking Mr. Wheeler for his plea, placing the blame, of course, on the people who are "getting what they want."

ADVERTISING INTERESTING

There was a time when people accepted the advertising in their favorite newspaper as a necessary evil. The newspaper had to have the revenue that was derived from advertising in order to continue publication, and so the advertising had to be. But that attitude has changed. Newspaper readers do not confine their attention to the news columns alone. They find as much, and often more, of interest in the advertsements than in the news.

This is largely due to the fact that more attention is given to advertising copy today. It is readable and interesting and is made to embrace information of value to the reader. If it is necessary to go over the news each day in order to keep abreast of the times, it is just as necessary to read the advertisements. It is in the advertising columns that you read the true story of the advance in science and business; it is there you will see the progress of art; it is there you will learn of all the comforts and conveniences that will make your daily life easier and more delightful; it is there you will find out where to get the best, how to save money, to lessen your work and to have better homes, better food, more comforts and conveniences.

The average reader used to think that advertising benefited the advertiser alone, but it is now generally understood that advertising is a form of insurance for the purchaser. A manufacturer or a dealer cannot afford to advertise any article that will not stand the test of time, and so the purchaser does not need to hesitate to buy an advertised article.

That the public stops buying articles as soon as they cease to be advertised is evidence that the people read the advertising as well as the news and that advertising, to be fruitful, must be constant.

WHY WORRY?

The fatalist limits himself by believing that he has no control over his own destiny, and he may endanger his life through carelessness, since he believes that "what is to be will be." However, there are very few real fatalists in the world and one who aspires to be one admits that he looks both ways when crossing a street. Fatalism is a dangerous philosophy or doctrine, and yet, just a touch of fatalism in our natures would be a good thing for many of us who are always worrying about what may happen. The habit of worrying is foolish; Thomas Edison says it is the evil of life. The futility of worry is so evident and so well known, and yet there is scarcely anyone who is free from the habit. A famous psychologist says that it is an impossibility to overwork the brain, but that worrying will cause rapid deterioration in the brain tissues. People in mental work do not suffer nervous breakdowns from overwork, but from overworry.

We are told to "take no thought," and that "sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof," but still we go on worrying. Good physical health and peace of mind are blessings we would all enjoy. Worry is the worst enemy of such a happy state.

OUR TELEPHONE SERVICE

Attention is often called to the telephone system in the United States as an example of what private initiative and enterprise can accomplish as compared to government ownership which is in vogue in Europe. People who have lived or traveled abroad are agreed that in no country is telephone service found which can be compared to that of the United States.

Six million calls a day are put through in New York city, more than in all of Great Britain. Boston has twice as many telephones as Paris. There are eight of our states, each one of which has more phones than the entire republic of France.

Tuning In

By DR. FRANK CRANE

It has often been wondered what is the exact size of an object. You can hold it so close to you that it blots out the rest of the world, or it can be remote enough from you to be a mere speck in the distance.

What is its true size?

The obvious answer is that its true size depends upon its right position. All size is relative and depends upon other objects around.

The proper position for a bookcase is across the room against the wall. It is not intended to be in the remote distance nor too close to the eye.

There are some people who look at everything through inverted opera glasses. These people have a contemptuous view of the world and everything seems to them out of proportion. They are constantly caviling and finding fault.

It should be remembered that fault can be found with anything that is not in its right place.

Truth is relative.

The thing to do is to look with one's normal vision and to look at things in their right place.

There are some people who see pleasant things all around them. The people they have to do with are agreeable and their reaction upon life is agreeable.

These people look at things in their right proportion. Their vision is normal.

Often things take for us a size that they do not deserve to have because they are out of relation to other things. There are things that worry us and cause us much concern. The trouble is that we see them either magnified or minified. In their right place they would not alarm us. All life is a matter of adjustment.

The air all around us is full of melody. Ordinarily we do not hear it, but if we were to bring a radio into the room and tune in properly, the sensitive wires of the machine would pick up the unheard harmony. We cannot hear it unless we tune in.

So there is much melody and beauty for those souls that are in tune with the universe. They hear and see things that are inaudible or invisible to other people.

Very often a moral or spiritual thought, idea or emotion is not perceived by a critic simply because he is not attuned to it. If his nature were such that he could pick up the vibrations of it he would speedily get it. The trouble with most of us is that we are not in tune with our environment.

Horoscope

Astrologers read this as rather an uneventful day in which Neptune in benefic aspect dominates and the Sun is adverse.

Once more the stars promise great oil discoveries and predict that they will be made at a time when a new world demand is recognized.

Fortunes await persons who will stumble upon the key to wealth and will develop new industries as marvelous as any that have astonished the present generation.

This should be an auspicious date for sailing on long voyages, and there is to be much ocean travel. Pacific steamships will carry more passengers than in previous years, it is prophesied.

Under this planetary government the organs of digestion may be very sensitive. Food should be studied, for sinister influences that encourage diseases of the stomach and kidneys may be strong.

The Moon today is in a sign supposed to encourage confidence in business and profit in speculation.

Stock market quotations will fluctuate suddenly at the end of next month when it is wise not to take any chances in investing money.

Heavy storms mark February, which this year is to bring an international surprise.

Honors for Americans abroad will be many, for fame is to increase where it has already found men of big executive ability.

In 1925 heroes of finance are to supersede the heroes of war in the estimation of the nations of the world.

Although steps toward world co-operation will be taken with success, war clouds are to gather again.

On this day women should be very successful in winning the admiration of men, but the stars presage flirtation rather than courtship.

Persons whose birth date it is have the augury of rather a quiet year. They may be often tempted to win attention from persons of opposite sex, but they are protected from too much silliness.

Children born on this day probably will be great favorites wherever they go and will receive much aid from persons of wealth and influence. These subjects of Aquarius usually have rare mental qualities and many talents which they use rather casually but with good effect.

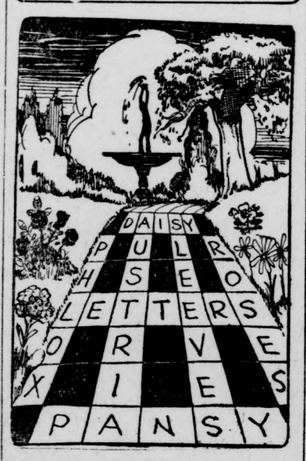
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE ANSWERED



Today's Poem

THE CLOUD

I bring fresh showers for the thirsting flowers,
From the seas and the streams;
I bear light shade for the leaves when laid
In their noonday dreams.
From my wings are shaken the dews that waken
The sweet buds every one,
When rocked to rest on their mother's breast,
As she dances about the sun.
I wield the flail of the lashing hail,
And whiten the green plains under;
And then again I dissolve it in rain,
And laugh as I pass in thunder.

GLORIA'S COSTUME

PARIS, Jan. 31.—One of the striking costumes in the trousseau of Gloria Swanson, whose marriage to the Marquis De La Falaise has just been announced, is a white ensemble of white silk moire. The collar, cuffs and hem of the rather long coat are banded with white fox. The skirt falls just below the coat hem and is snug and rather tight. With this toilette goes a small, plain, white felt hat, turned up slightly at one side, and plain, round-toed white pumps.

Silk hosiery shipped from this to other countries last year was valued at $7,000,000.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNARD

Because of what they were taught in school, persons who ever think of Benjamin Franklin at all, think of him in terms of lightning and Poor Richard, and not as politician, diplomat and critic of society.

Franklin was a good politician because he knew and appreciated the fact that the men best qualified by intellect and character to govern are not those who usually get into and stay longest in public office. And he was a good diplomat for the same reason.

In 1731 it seemed to Franklin to be time for raising a United Party of Virtue, "by forming the virtuous and good men of all nations into a regular body, to be governed by suitable good and wise rules, which good and wise men may probably be more unanimous in their obedience to, than common people are to common laws."

Franklin had saturated himself with history, and been forced to these conclusions:

"That the great affairs of the world, the wars, revolutions, etc., are carried on and affected by parties.

"That the view of these parties is their present general interest, or what they take to be such.

"That the different views of these parties occasion all confusion.

"That while a party is carrying on a general design, each man has his own particular private interest in view.

"That as soon as a party has gained its general point each member becomes intent upon his particular interest; which, thwarting others, breaks that party into divisions, and occasions more confusion.

"That few in public affairs act from a mere view of the good of their country, whatever they may pretend; and, though their actings bring real good to their country, yet men primarily considered that their own and their country's interest was united, and did not act from a principle of benevolence.

"That fewer still, in public affairs, act with a view to the good of mankind."

You will find these observations in his Autobiography, a human document too little read in the land that inspired it.

APPRAISER IS MINDED BY REALTORS

Action Designed to Put End To Incompetent Workers Taken In Glendale

Action designed to put an end to the operations of alleged property appraisers who use their political influences to secure clients, will be urged before the Glendale Realty board by Peter Hanson, past president, when the board meets next Wednesday. Mr. Hanson will present for the board's approval, a program worked out by the appraisal committee of which he is chairman. This program calls for the maintenance of the appraisal board for the convenience and service of property owners desiring appraisals. A fee, declared to be only a third as much as is ordinarily charged by commercial appraisers, will be attached to this service. Half of this fee will go to the Realty board, the remainder to be divided among members of the appraisal committee.

Realty boards throughout California and in the east are in many notable instances now maintaining such appraisal boards, Mr. Hanson said. It is hoped by promoting universal adoption of the plan, to drive out the alleged politically inclined appraiser who is unfitted and unequipped to render the service for which he charges so steep a price. Other members of the appraisal committee beside Mr. Hanson, chairman, are William McMillan, Lloyd H. Wilson, James W. Pearson and T. H. Menk.

Blind Man Passes Bad Check on Hobo Hotel

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Taking candy from a baby or pennies off a dead man's eyes is old—the latest is passing a "snow" check on a blind man. Take the case of John Scotakis, who for six weeks was a guest at a cheap hotel, owned by sightless Thomas Zarkadis and John Jareckis. During the absence of his partner Zarkadis, the blind man, was approached by Scotakis, who said he was checking out and asked for his final bill. The bill was $5. Scotakis, according to Zarkadis, tendered him a "check" for $22, pocketed the $17 change and walked out.

When Jareckis returned Zarkadis told him of the deal. Jareckis asked to view the check, the blind partner handed it to him, and what was supposed to be a check was a handbill which read: "How to Become An American Citizen."

Physician's Wild Ride Is Life-Saver to Boy

EUGENE, Ore., Jan. 31.—A wild ride by a doctor down the McKenzie highway, through ice and snow, resulted in saving the life of an eighteen-months'-old boy who had swallowed a quantity of ant poison. The child, son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Hall, of McKenzie Bridge, fifty-five miles from Eugene, survived, after the physician had spent half the night over him. First aid treatment of soda and hot water applied by the mother in her mountain home, was really the means of saving the child's life, the physician said.

If a man grins cheerfully whatever the disaster, you don't know whether he is a confirmed Pollyanna or just a plain idiot.

Realtors Are Asked To Give Facts To East

In an appeal broadcast by special bulletin to all boards and newspapers, President D. Richard Ainsley of the California Real Estate association called upon all members of the association to write one or more letters to friends and relatives in the east, the idea being to bring every member of the largest state realty organization into immediate and constructive action to aid the great state of California from Siskiyou to Imperial in presenting the true facts concerning conditions here before the eastern mind.

President Ainsley, in all his addresses before the scores of realty boards in California, now holding their annual dinners, makes a powerful plea for concerted action by all boards to help the state of California counteract the unfair and untruthful statements sent broadcast among middle western folks by prejudiced minds.

It was estimated today at the state association offices that the state president's appeal would result in tens of thousands of letters being mailed east before the first of March.

YALE GRADUATES WOULD MAKE CITY

Statistics Show 40,000 of Them Since Records Started In 1701

NEW HAVEN, Jan. 31.—Graduates of Yale university, if assembled in a group, would constitute a city of nearly 40,000 population, according to statistics just issued in the new Quinquennial catalogue of officers and graduates of Yale university, 1701-1924. These statistics show that from 1702, when a degree was conferred upon a single individual, to June, 1924, the total of awarded degrees was 40,968. Out of these are to be taken 3829 who had previous Yale degrees, leaving a net total of 37,139 graduates. And of these 26,407, or over 70 per cent, still are living.

Yale college has conferred 20,465 degrees upon graduates. Sheffield Scientific school has given out 7683 degrees, law 2780, medicine 1698 and divinity 1509. The other schools have cared for less than 1000 persons each.

Law Favored

Yale has granted 2001 honorary degrees and has turned out 2174 doctors of philosophy, 1286 masters of arts, ninety-five mechanical engineers, eighty-eight civil engineers, eighty-six bachelors of fine arts, eighty-one bachelors of music, thirty-seven doctors of law, thirty-six doctors of civil law, thirty-three engineers of mines, ten electrical engineers, nine bachelors of civil law, three doctors of public health, and two metallurgical engineers. Besides these the university has conferred fifteen certificates of public health.

Statistics show, also, that of the group of graduates who received the principal degrees from Yale 719 have become college professors, 190 judges, 147 college presidents, 144 members of Congress, fifty-two senators and forty-nine governors. In addition, 340 held various other public offices.

Law has been the favorite profession among graduates, medicine next.

Persia has no insurance companies.

REALTY BOARD HAS EYE ON CAPITOL

State Association In Close Touch With Doings At Sacramento

The California Real Estate association legislative committee headed by the former commissioner Freeman H. Bloodgood has maintained a watchful eye on legislation at Sacramento. The association is sponsoring very few measures this session, and is cooperating with the state real estate department in bringing about a more efficient administration of the real estate license act. This is being made possible through a more liberal budget out of the license fees, and because of the fact that after a year's conduct of the qualification test, the commissioner has recently announced his intention of co-operating with local boards in securing evidence as to the qualifcations of applicants for broker's licenses. The applicant may appear before the local board's examining committee, or he may go before the department on the first Monday in each month for his test.

The state association with the approval of the commissioner has introduced through Assemblyman Frank Eksward, its floor leader, a bill providing for the establishment of a bureau of real estate research and statistics to be a part of the real estate department and maintained out of the department surplus funds.

General Fund

In five years the department has turned over to the general fund of the state approximately $385,000 of which $115,000 was paid in at the close of business, December 31, 1924. This bureau of research will compile, publish and distribute authoritative pamphlets on real estate conditions, resources, and prepare for each grand subdivision of the state an authoritative presentation of real estate conditions.

The association has endorsed the commissioner's request for amendments providing for department control over any dealer who negotiates the sale of a lease of real property; and to make it a misdemeanor instead of a felony to sell real estate without a license. This reduction of the penalty will enable swifter and more certain punishment for infringements, the commissioner declared.

Another proposed amendment upon which the state association has not placed its approval, is to bring all subdivisions of five acres or more, to be cut up into lots of one acre or less, under the direct supervision of the state real estate department.

Proposed Subdivision Law

The proposed amendment as brought before the Legislative committee by the commissioner reads as follows:

"It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to subdivide into lots of one (1) acre or less any tract of five (5) acres or more without first submitting the plat thereof to the state real estate commissioner and securing his permit thereto—such permit to be granted upon a satisfactory showing as to soundness of title and ample financing of promised improvements—and upon failure so to do, it shall be the duty of the district attorney to prosecute such person, firm or corporation upon the request of the state real estate commissioner and if such person, firm or corporation is convicted, such offender shall be punished by a fine not to exceed two thousand dollars ($2000) or by being confined in the county jail or state penitentiary for a period not to exceed two (2) years, or by both."

The department would have power to investigate the subdivision as to title of property, its financing, its ability to make good and deliver a sound property to the buyer. Upon request of the commissioner, the state association legislative committee is making a survey of leading subdivision firms as to their views on this proposed amendment, and a survey also of the number of subdivisions made in this state, by counties, during the past three years. Thus far the majority of opinions among realtors is adverse to the amendment, although nearly every letter received admits the desirability of such a law theoretically, but states that in actual practice it would not be possible to work it out. "It would be a penalty on the vast majority of legitimate subdividers who constitute the majority and the bulwark of the constructive real estate business," is the way one realtor answers.

Another broker says: "The amendment would be a good thing were we always to have as able a commissioner at the head of our department as at present." A third firm replies, "We feel that there is very little chance to safeguard anyone who will not use ordinary common sense in buying property, and these additional requirements only result in placing additional burdens on those

Bill Ding Takes Mountain Trip

Cabin In Hills Sure Great, He Says

Soon To Open Keg Of Nails

Bill Ding, who has "hooked up" with the Bentley Lumber Co., at 460 West Los Feliz road, took his first mountain trip last week and experienced a wonderful lot of thrills, as well as a new idea. Says Bill:

"I he'rd tell when I was back east about these he'er mountain roads and setch like, so I took a little dive with a friend of mine the other day up in the clouds. I don't mean by the aeroplane method, no seer-ee;—we jumped into old Lizz and was soon a clim'en up and up and up, so soon I chanced ter look over the sides a little, when the feller I was with suddenly reminded me we just barely missed going off fer about 2000 feet.

"It sure does have an awe inspiring effect I'll admit. I stayed as close the old mountain sides as I could after that.—Oh, I'll get used to them little hills after a while I gess.—But I was going ter tell you about that canyon we suddenly popped into. Sure enough there was a little settlement of the finest bunch of mountain cabins I ever cast my eyes upon. So right then and there this friend of mine began working on me. Sez this friend to me. 'Bill you ought to have a place to spend your weekends. How about Bill-

Ding on one of these beautiful spots a little cabin? Every week end you bundle the kiddies and better half into the car and get out in the great out of doors.'

"Well that set me to think'en and I've done now decided to do that very thing. It won't cost but several hundred dollars to be situated very comfortable. Nature sure am grand. We had a wonderful outing last week end, and I was sure a think'en that as Bill-Ding business is my business during the week time at Bentley Lumber Co., I was going to make it my business to tell the folks of Glendale my Bill-Ding business is up in the mountains as well as right here in town, and how much I am sure other folks can enjoy themselves if they have a nice little cabin not so far from our wonderful City of Glendale.

"I have had a lot of the fellers calling me on the 'phone last week asking about the party I promised to put on in the near future. I didn't know the boys liked to put on them parties as well as they do, for this keg of nails we are going to open is a hard lot of stuff. So for the benefit of the anxious fellers, I'll say I'm mak-en plans every day, and we are working out the details as swiftly as possible.

"This picture of me, shown with my name under it, was taken back east where you get the chill blains and rumetiz, etc. and I want to appologize for the stiff looking portrait, but I'm slowly working the kinks out of my joints and I'll be California cured fer many days. Don't fer get our plan service down here, so long fer this week, I'll be on the air agin next Saturday."

$400,000 PROGRAM OUTLINED

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 31.—Confident of Santa Barbara's future, the Southern California Edison company has more than doubled its annual appropriation for extensions in this vicinity, and will spend $400,000 in Santa Barbara and this district in 1925. Last year $175,000 was expended. The largest item in the development program is the construction of a substation to cost more than $100,000.

GUSHER NEAR VENTURA

VENTURA, Jan. 31.—The Associated Oil Co., has brought in a 4550 barrel gusher in the hills near the Ventura city limits, according to an announcement at the company's office. This well, known as Lloyd No. 9-A is reported to be the largest producer completed in Ventura county in ten years. The producer was brought in at 5150 feet.

PARK IS THEIR GOAL

WHITTIER, Jan. 31.—Possibility that Whittier may yet have a big city park utilizing the natural advantages with which nature has endowed this community took definite shape when the City Trustees, park superintendent, city engineer and city attorney, in company with President Walter F. Dexter of Whittier college, made a tour of inspection through College Hills and inspected sixty acres of land which has been proposed for a natural city park.

MOTORISTS ARE ATTRACTED

BEAUMONT, Jan. 31.—Beaumont, Banning and neighboring San Gorgonia pass districts are attracting many motorists from all parts of Southern California. The reason is that the almond trees are beginning to bloom in sufficient numbers to show the orchards in pink blossoms.

NEW BOULEVARDS NEEDED

POMONA, Jan. 31.—Two new boulevards west from Pomona for relief of traffic congestion are being considered by the regional planning commission. One would run west from Fifth avenue, skirting the base of the Puente hills, crossing Brea canyon road south of the railroad tracks. The other would run west from Holt avenue, skirting the San Jose hills north of the railroads and making a junction with the valley boulevard beyond Spadra and also with the Covina highway now being constructed.

WATER PLAN DEFEATED

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 31.—Defeat for Montecito's proposal to build a dam in Juncal canyon on the Santa Ynez river for diversion of water for an independant water system was seen when Mayor C. M. Andera and City Attorney W. P. Butcher both affirmed that it was "practically certain" that Santa Barbara would not permit the operation.

Bank Responsible for City's Thrifty People

BIRMINGHAM, Jan. 31.—This city claims to be the thriftiest city in England. Its thrift is due to the activity of the Birmingham Municipal bank, the only one of its kind in the world, which was started in 1919 to help the poor of the city to save. Since the bank opened it has handled more than $30,000,000 in small amounts, and has completed 3,000,000 transactions. Depositors number 170,000, and this number is increasing at the rate of 520 weekly.

Bank of England Now Undergoing Repairs

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The great task of rebuilding the Bank of England is under way. The architect of the new edifice is Herbert Baker, one of whose earliest works was the building of Groote Sehuar for Cecil Rhodes, outside Cape Town.

A considerable amount of discussion has resulted in how much, if any, of the old building should be incorporated in the new. The Bank of England is generally regarded as the greatest achievement of Sir John Seane.

OIL MEN SEE INDUSTRY'S RECOVERY

California, Worthham Fields Credited for Bringing Out of Eclipse

By J. C. ROYLE

Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Oil men professed to see their industry commencing to emerge slowly from eclipse today. This feeling has been fostered by the lightening of the shadows which possibilities of heavy production from the California and Wortham fields have cast on the situation, the increased demand for gasoline, and the prospective reduction in storage stocks.

The improved trend has been reflected in advances in the prices of crude oil and gasoline in various sections of the country which took place despite the fact that country-wide production for the week of January 17 ran well over two million barrels.

Experts in the Texas fields declare the falling off in the production of the Wortham field has been due partly to bad weather and a labor shortage which has interfered with the drilling. But they admit that the capabilities and extent of the field have now been pretty well defined and that the peak of production there seems to have been reached or passed. It is possible that within a short time production in the field may drop to 100,000 barrels a day or less. At any rate, there is nothing in the Wortham situation at present which would support fears of an output likely to disrupt the market.

California Fields

This is also true of the California fields which flooded the country with oil for months and which were responsible to a large extent for the depressed condition of the industry.

Nevertheless California oil companies now have approximately 9,000,000 more barrels of oil and 126,000,000 more gallons of gasoline on hand than was in storage at this time last year. There has been an increased consumption of Naphtha distillates, however, and only 13,114,490 barrels of these products are held. The total storage of crude in California is 98,000,000 barrels and of gasoline 460,214,375 gallons.

The drop in California production has been due to a terrific slump in the output of the famous Santa Fe Springs, Long Beach and Huntington Beach fields, attributed to over drilling. The new fields found or prospected in the last twelve months have not replaced this flush production. There now exists in this country no field which threatens production above ordinary, and if such a field were discovered it would be three months or more before it could menace the technical position of the industry.

California hopes to find an outlet for some of its surplus oil in South America and the first of a new fleet of tankers which will run between Los Angeles and Buenos Aires, financed by British and Argentine capital, has just been launched.

The Texas Co. has just bought a number of properties in Archer county, Texas, from the Panhandle Refining Co. and the Consolidated Oil Co. for $1,500,000, and the Phillips Petroleum Co. has acquired heavy interests in the Humble Oil & Refining Co. properties in Stephens county. Oil men regard these deals as concrete evidence of the improved trend.

The oil industry not only is

Realtors See Big Asset In Proposed Bill

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 31.—Among the bills to be considered by the legislative representatives of the state after their recess is one of great value to the real estate profession, according to Assemblyman Frank Eksward of Burlingame, author of the measure.

It is the proposal of the California Real Estate association that a bureau of research and statistics be added to the office or Edwin T. Keiser, real estate commissioner, who under the terms of another bill would be called upon to disseminate authentic information regarding the resources of this state.

Just as E. L. Kaufman, statistician for the state department of agriculture, prepares official information for publication, the real estate department would have a man to keep tab on property values, improvements, movements in population and sundry other facts. His office would learn of housing conditions, average prices for acreage, city lots, business frontage, and learn of rental revenues; prepare amortization tables; and otherwise make available to licensed realtors, as well as the newspapers and magazines, information which no one now can obtain except in a general way.

RADIO GROWTH ALARMS PARIS

Three Houses of Every 100 Have Receiving Sets, Making Million All

By ALICE LANGELIER

For International News Service.

PARIS, Jan. 31.—Three houses out of every hundred in France have a radio receiving set, which means that there are more than a million in the entire country.

The number of radio owners has been growing to such an extent during the last few years that the government has become alarmed. The minister of the interior and the director of the Surete Generale are now working to establish regulations and a service that will keep tab on the operations of all wireless owners. An effective surveillance over all radio stations, large or small, receiving or sending, is needed for the good of the public as well as that of the country.

Pictures Assured

The new invention of the radiotonograms by Dr. Fournier d'Albe now assures the photography of radio sounds. The apparatus itself is very simple, consisting of resounders, each one a glass or metallic tube closed at one end and open at the other. At the open end is a little "tongue" of mica, very thin, to which is attached a mirror. The tongue and the tube are attuned to the same note and will respond to no other, no matter how strong the emission. Thus, when a piece of music is played and transmitted by radio, each resounder embraces its own note and reproduces it. The response is exceedingly rapid and stops immediately after the termination of the note. Naturally the notes are longer and more marked when they are strong.

Speeches may be recorded in the same manner. If all notes could thus be registered stenography would become a superfluous science and books would be printed without ever having been printed.

MOVIES SERVE AS AID TO REALTORS

Between 85 and 90 Per Cent Of All Picture Scenes Taken In State

By MARIAN MARSHALL

By Southland News Service.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 31.—When it comes to aiding the real estate man, there is nothing quite so good as motion pictures of southern California. And it must be remembered that 85 to 90 per cent of all scenes are taken in the Hollywood locale.

Of course, it is a distance of a hundred miles or more to the deep snows and desert expanse, but seldom do the companies have to journey outside of the state.

From the standpoint of realism California is the best place outside of Spain to make a Spanish moving picture, and Director Raoul Walsh says it is even better.

This was proven in filming "The Spaniard," with Ricardo Cortez in the title role. Walsh found that the natural scenery of southern California is in a great many details exactly like that of the true locale in Spain. Stretches of country not far from Hollywood were readily adapted by the use of but few props to a reproduction of the identical scenes in the story.

Then Walsh points to that ever-important factor of people. There are enough Spaniards residing in Hollywood and Los Angeles to fulfill every picture need. They are truly natives of Spain, and they have brought with them all the beauty and color of the land of romance. They are accustomed to American ways and can be easily directed, Walsh says.

Native Costumes

Even real Spanish costumes can be found in abundance and variety. If the Spanish extra does not happen to own a complete outfit of native clothes, some member of his or her family will have everything from mantillas and combs to boots and spurs, and it all comes direct from Spain.

With all this realism, good acting on the part of extras follows, according to Walsh. Give a native of Spain a complete costume of his homeland, put him with hundreds of his countrymen similarly dressed, with a full Spanish orchestra playing native airs, in a locale so nearly like Spain he can feel its influence, and the result is unusual realism.

But there are two sequences in "The Spaniard" that cannot be realistically reproduced in the United States. These are the two bull fights around which is woven the intense and colorful story of "The Spaniard." For these scenes a pilgrimage to Mexico will be necessary.

CHAPLIN'S GIRL WIFE HIRES ATTORNEY

Clouds Gather Over Romance Of Film Star; Financial Settlement Hinted

informant said that the request for the fund had been made by Mrs. Chaplin through Attorney McMurray.

Following the publication of a statement from Mrs. Chaplin's attorney that "financial negotiations were in progress," but were of a "purely personal nature," and that there was "no connection between these negotiations and any contemplated action for divorce," Attorney Wright hurried to the comedian's home for a conference with Chaplin.

Sum Not Decided

According to Chaplin's "spokesman," the negotiations between the attorneys have not reached the point where any specific amount for the proposed trust fund has been mentioned, but he stated that it was indicated the sum ranged from $100,000 to $500,000.

The proposal for the establishment of the trust fund for the expected Chaplin heir was said to have been made for the reason that Mrs. Chaplin desires a guaranteed financial provision for the child as soon as possible. At the same time her attorneys denied that apprehension as to her future marital relations caused Mrs. Chaplin to ask for the fund. Attorney McMurray arrived here several days ago from San Francisco and is said to have held several conferences with Mrs. Chaplin, her mother, Mrs. Lillian Spicer, and her grandmother, Mrs. W. E. Curry.

Chaplin In Hiding

At the same time all efforts to reach the comedian or Mrs. Chaplin proved futile. Attorney McMurray said Mrs. Chaplin had nothing to say and Chaplin was secluded, but just where his servants would not disclose.

Speculation was also rife today with the report of the financial negotiations. Just what would be the effect on the situation of a baby expected to be born to Mrs. Chaplin, who made the announcement a few weeks ago that she would become a mother, was not forthcoming.

The Chaplin-Grey romance, which culminated at Empalme, Mexico, in November, when the pair were married, has aroused the interest of the blase Hollywood film colony as nothing else has ever done.

Mrs. Chaplin, it was reliably reported, has frequently told friends that she was unhappy because Chaplin was home so little; that he never took her out in public and that her only diversion to break the monotony of staying alone in the Chaplin mansion in Beverly Hills is an occasional shopping tour with her mother.

Soon after their marriage Mrs. Chaplin told friends that her famous husband was busily engaged in making a picture and that home would be sidetracked for the time being.

Under Same Roof

With the coming visit of the stork the Board of Education has lifted its requirement that Mrs. Chaplin devote at least three hours daily to educational studies.

Both Chaplin and his wife were reported today as living beneath the same roof of the Chaplin home regardless of any financial agreement about to be reached. For a while, soon after the marriage, it was rumored among members of the film colony that Chaplin had taken up his home at a downtown club, leaving his wife alone in his big home in the Beverly Hills with a multitude of servants, most of them being Japanese.

Home Life Not Happy For Girl Bride, Is Claim

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—A school girl's dream of romance and happiness with the most famous clown in the world, Charlie Chaplin, was seemingly at an end today when it was learned that attorneys representing Lita Grey Chaplin, his bride of two months after a colorless romance, were trying to effect a financial agreement between the film star and his girl wife.

Edwin McMurray, well known San Francisco lawyer, and uncle of Mrs. Chaplin, now in Los Angeles, was quoted today as admitting that financial negotiations were in progress between Chaplin and his bride, but denied that the negotiations were the forerunners of a separation or divorce.

Mrs. Chaplin Spends $1200 For Layette

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31. While film circles buzzed here today, following the reported "cash settlement" plans of Charles Chaplin, king of comedy, and lawyers for his 16-year-old bride, it was learned that his young wife had spent $1200 in a single day buying baby clothes for the expected Chaplin heir.

On the shopping tour Mrs. Chaplin is said to have been accompanied by her mother and purchased everything for a modern nursery from an ivory trundle bed to silk underclothes and rubber nippies.

DOGS IN LIFE RACE NEAR TO GOAL

Governor of Alaska Writes Last Relay Expected Very Shortly

By SCOTT C. BONE
Governor of Alaska. Written Exclusively for International News Service. Copyright, 1925.

JUNEAU, Alaska, Jan. 31.—In a race for life, Leonard Seppella, the most famous musher of the northland, who won the dogteam sweepstakes in 1914 by going over the ice and snow from Nome to Candle, a distance of 410 miles, in 70 hours and 16 minutes, is today winning higher laurels in service to humanity.

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon he was to meet a relay team from Ruby, Alaska, bearing 300,000 units of anti-toxin for the relief of diphtheria sufferers at Nome.

Seppella left Nome Tuesday, southward bound, simultaneously with a delay dog team setting out from Nenana, and extraordinary progress has been made in both directions to date.

Expected Shortly

With continued good luck, the serum should reach the hands of Dr. Curtis Welch, assistant health officer, and the only physician at Nome, in a very few hours.

In the region of Nenana, where the late President Harding in July 23 drove the golden spike commerorating the completion of the government railroad, the most bitter weather in twenty years prevailed, but, undaunted, W. J. Shannon, Edgar Kallen, Jim Kallen, Dan Green, John Folger and Titus Nicholas responded to the call, whipped their teams into shape and braved the elements.

Under a milder temperature on the Seward penninsula, Seppella speed away.

The Northern Commercial Co. acted as dispatcher of the travelers at the north and the schedules were kept like clockwork.

Bulletins Daily

Roadhouse keepers at thirty-mile intervals provided food for the men and fish for the dogs.

Onward over the ice and frozen tundra the teams traveled tirelessly. The succor of dying children stimulated them to supreme efforts. Every moment meant the possible saving of a life.

Bulletins by signal corps men reached the governor daily.

The first came from Wetzler, and read:

"Shannon leaves at 9 p. m. and have arranged for relay teams to drive day and night until Nome team is met."

Dr. Welch wired from Nome as follows:

"Seppella starting at once and driving light.

the dogs and give the champion driver a chance to change the moccasins on the dogs' feet, pricked by the "spear" ice on the coated snow drifts.

Abandon Air Flight

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Jan. 31. —Men and mushing dogs today are fast nearing terror stricken Nome, bearing to the diphtheria sufferers life-giving anti-toxin.

The proposed airplane flight of Roy S. Darling, agent of the department of justice here, has been abandoned, owing to the fast running of the dogs. Darling was to have intercepted the dog teams and made the final dash for Nome, but this will not be necessary now as the dogs will finish the trip before Darling, even in his speedy airplane, could overtake them.

Rush Anti-Toxin

SEATTLE, Jan. 31.—Packed as carefully as though the shipment consisted of jewels of great price, 1,100,000 units of death-cheating anti-toxin are being rushed to diphtheria stricken Nome aboard the steamship Alameda, which sailed from Seattle at 9 o'clock this morning for Seward.

The precious serum, according to the present outlook, will be transported by dog teams from Nenana to Nome and for this reason extraordinary precautions were taken to pack it so as to prevent freezing.

Doctor's Statement

NOME, Alaska, Jan. 31.—Dr. Curtis J. Welch, in charge of the battle against Nome's diphtheria epidemic, issued the following statement today:

"Deaths, five; suspects, thirty; contacts, fifty; new cases, one."

Dr. Welch said all his supply of anti-toxin had been exhausted and arrival of dog teams from the south this afternoon or tonight would probably save many lives. He said the serum he had used was six years old and not as effective as fresh anti-toxin.

The city is quarantined and every precaution is being taken Dr. Welch, working night and day, has the situation in hand, but the menace wlil remain serious until the arrival of the serum.

Streets of the camp seem quiet, as children are being kept carefully indoors. The morale is good, despite the menacing plague.

$4,000,000,000. There is nothing "political" about this sum, in the opinion of officials here, despite the inclination in Paris to divide the sum into "real" and "political" parts.

Both Premier Herriot and M. Clementel, the finance minister, have referred to "the political debt" and the reference has caused coniderable doubt here as to just what was meant.

It is assumed here that when M. Daeschner does open the expected negotiations, it will be on a basis different from that contained in the recent memorandum sent to Washington by M. Clementel.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The forward movement in industrial and oil stocks was taken up immediately after the opening of the market today and prices of many of the active stocks were marked up a point or more with blocks of from 500 to 5,000 shares changing hands and often at advances of more than a point from Friday's close. The favorable earnings statements of Radio corporation and other industrial corporations and the new advances in prices of crude oil and gasoline were the principal features affecting stock prices.

For the tenth consecutive day higher prices were announced by leading refiners and distributors of oil products. Standard Oil of New York boosted gasoline another cent in its territory completing a rise of five cents a gallon since January first. Humble oil and Texas company followed suit in southern territory, Ohio Oil company advanced Lima, Indiana, Princeton, Plymouth and Wooster crude 25c a barrel. Cosden jumped more than a point on its first sale of 5,000 shares and rose 2 points to 34¾ in the first hour, Independent oils, which have been making history continued to move forward smartly in a heavy-buying movement, the list including Shell Union, Pure Oil, Pan-Americans, Skelly, Royal Dutch, Simms, Sinclair, etc. Tidewater and Atlantic Refining led the high-priced oils, the former up six points at 148. The Standard Oils both on the curb and the listed market, bettered their best previous prices for the movement and in some cases sold at the highest prices on record.

Stocks like Radio, Worthington Pump, Gulf States steel and Baldwin sold at slightly higher prices, Radio responding to the announcement that 1924 gross earnings were double those of 1922. Rumors of the active participation of powerful banking interests in the affairs of several of the southwestern railway companies with a view to effecting a merger with Katy, Missouri Pacific and Wabash also were in demand at higher prices. New York Central moved up to 123 for a fractional gain. St. Paul preferred broke through its former low price for the year and sold at 22¼.

Stock sales today totalled 1,076,000 shares; bonds $12,393,000.

Stock sales for the week 9,499,900 shares; bonds $83,845,000.

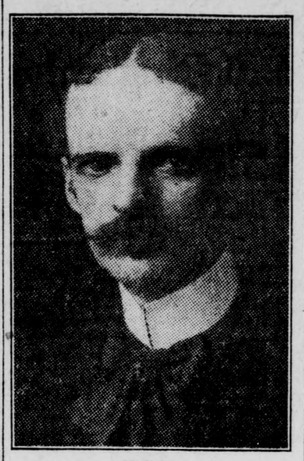
For Council

STEPHEN W. HUNTINGTON, the sixth to receive more than fifty nominations in The Glendale Evening News' nominations for City Council campaign, now being conducted. Who's next?



When The Glendale Evening News announced that it would receive nominations for city councilmen, it was stated that all who received fifty or more nominations would have their pictures published, also a brief biography. It happens that S. W. Huntington is the sixth proposed candidate to receive fifty or more nominations, so his picture appears above and following is a brief story about him.

Stephen W. Huntington, 624 North Brand boulevard, is numbered among the leaders in Glendale business life. He came here three years ago with his family, after an active career in the east, and has since made numerous investments in this city. He is now with H. S. McCormack & Associates, Inc., whose offices are in the Security building. He is a Mason and an Elk.

Mr. Huntington was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1873, and was educated at the Brooklyn Polytechnic institute. Later he traveled and studied abroad, entering the banking business on his return in 1890. His early banking experience was gained in the Dime Savings bank of Brooklyn, of which his father was president. He was with this institution fourteen years, rising to the position of receiving teller and secretary.

In 1906 Mr. Huntington removed with his family to New Rochelle, a suburb of New York, and in 1913 became a councilman of that city, following in the footsteps of his grandfather, Stephen Haynes, who was once commissioner of Prospect Park and built a number of the first public buildings in Brooklyn.

For six years Mr. Huntington served on the New Rochelle City Council, serving four years as vice-president of that body. During the war he was one of the leaders in the Home Defense corps and in the Police auxiliary, while his sons were actively engaged in the defense of their country.

The friends of Stephen W. Huntington feel him to be admirably qualified for a position on the Glendale City Council. They point out that he has no "axes to grind," is a man of wide experience, with the advantages of high education and extensive travel, and is, in addition, a thorough-going business man, with half a lifetime of banking experience behind him.

Possessed of abundant means, with no conflicting interests, they feel that he has the requisite talents and energies to devote to the upbuilding of Glendale, should be elected to the City Council.

NATIONS WILL ADOPT PLAN OF DAWES

Europe Expected to Employ American Policy In All Allied Debts

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service.

PARIS, Jan. 31.—An international Dawes' plan to take care of allied debts is in prospect for Europe. The same experts who drafted the Dawes plan whereby Germany is paying reparations to the allies are likely to formulate the Dawes debt program, according to Willis H. Booth, president of the International Chamber of Commerce and vice-president of the Guaranty Trust Co., of New York.

Action to formulate a Dawes debt plan will be taken this summer, Booth told International News Service, and would be the outcome of negotiations which the International Chamber of Commerce is now carrying on, he said.

"The assumption in the newspapers that I am in Paris to negotiate the Franco-American debt is a regrettable mistake," said Booth. "I have absolutely no official mission here to perform. I am here only for the International Chamber of Commerce. The chamber will take up the entire inter-allied debt question as a whole, but I have no intention of entering any discussion of any isolated debt, including the Franco-American debt."

Commerce Executives At Secretaries Meet

Secretary Howard I. Wood and Assistant Secretary Lawrence Grady of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce attended the monthly meeting of the Southern California Commercial Secretaries' association held today at El Centro. Following the business session, the secretaries motored to Calexico for dinner and a social meeting.

Glendalians Are Back From San Diego Trip

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Horn, Mr. and Mrs. George D. McDill and Mrs. J. W. Merle have returned from a trip to San Diego and Coronado. While in the southern city, Mr. McDill and Mr. Horn, both officials of the Glendale Y. M. C. A. inspected the new $827,000 army and navy "Y" building there.

SHORT GLOVE STYLE

PARIS, Jan. 31.—Contrast in shades rather than ornamentation now marks the fashionable short gloves. One pair shown today, for example, is of beige suede with a frill of copper which is flat at the wrist and, therefore, does not spoil the line of the dress cuff.

NEW COAT STYLES

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—From now until Easter coats are likely to be distinguished by quilted embroidery. This adornment lends itself especially well to the Kasha coats now being designed in rust, platinum gray, rose and bronze.

DEATHS--FUNERALS

GEORGE A. FOSTER

Elks of Glendale lodge, No. 1289, and Masons of Unity lodge, No. 368, paid impressive memorial tribute yesterday afternoon in Forest Lawn Memorial park to George A. Foster, well-known native Californian, and prominent mining man and oil promoter of Tonopah, Nev., who met a tragic death Wednesday morning, January 28, 1925, when his automobile was struck by a train at Nordham Crossing, north of Buena Park, as he was on his way to Orange. Funeral services were held in the beautiful Little Church of the Flowers, which was crowded to capacity by relatives and friends. Countless floral pieces bespoke the high esteem in which Mr. Foster was held by hosts of friends and fellow lodge members in Nevada and Southern California. Born at Del Mar, Cal., fifty years ago, a member of one of California's pioneer families, Mr. Foster was widely known.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Lulu Sonnaman Foster; his children, Ruth, James, Marjory and Byron, of Tonopah, Nev.; two brothers, William L. Foster of Huntington Park and Walter Foster of Tonopah, Nev.; a sister, Mrs. Lillie Miesch of Los Angeles, and other relatives in Huntington Park. Mr. Foster was a member of the Elks lodge of Tonopah and a thirty-second degree Mason of Tonopah lodge, No. 26, F. & A. M. Glendale Elks serving as pallbearers were George T. Payne, Walter Jones, J. E. Wimmer, A. R. Hildreth, Sam Malarkey and William Werden. Burial ritual of the Masonic order was given by twelve members of Unity lodge, No. 368, with W. B. Collins in charge. Interment took place in the Masonic plot.

JOSEPH ANDREW ANKER

Anker; a son, William; two daughters, Charlotte and Helen, of Glendale; and two sisters, Miss Ida Anker of New York and Miss Eva Anker of New Jersey. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Walter Brown chapel, 1335 South Flower street, Los Angeles. Cremation will follow.

The course starts Tuesday, February 3, in room 816, Hillstreet Bldg. A new course in blue print reading for the building trades will also be given. The course will cover the reading of blue prints, the scale, signs and symbols, specifications and building laws. Anyone interested may join the class. Loren E. Burckard of the Pacific Manufacturing Co., who has had long experience in mill work for all classes of buildings, will instruct. This class meets Wednesday, February 4, from 7 to 9 in the evening, room 615 Hillstreet Bldg.

100 Per Cent Financing

Owners of vacant city lots can very easily turn their holdings from a liability into income property, through our 100 per cent financing plan, said Harold H. Campbell, today.

All that is necessary is that the street improvements are paid, and that the property is free from all incumbrances. Naturally we want the lot to be approximately level and fairly well located. Owners who have property of this kind and are interested in building can do so without having to dig up immediate cash, he said.

LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE IS GIVEN HERE

RICHARD J. DAVIS SPEAKS IN CHURCH

Availability in Human Experience Is Examined by Member of Board of Lectureship Last Night

"Christian Science; Its Availability in Human Experiences" was the subject of a lecture delivered last night at the Christian Science church by Richard J. Davis, C. S., of Chicago, Ill. Mr. Davis is a member of the board of lectureship of the Mother church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. He was introduced by L. V. Martin. The lecture follows in full:

A Christian Science lecture is a striking evidence that there is deep-rooted in the heart of man a real hunger to know God—a natural desire or impulse for spiritual enlightenment. It has been aptly said that no two men come to God by the same mental journey, but clear it is that they come, some it would seem by rough and rocky paths, with many seeming obstacles and obstructions in the way; nevertheless they come, drawn by that irresistible attraction to gain what no man can do without—an understanding of God.

The perplexing problems of human life to-day, its physical suffering, its poverty, its discordant relations in business and the home, its bondage to sin, all these are leading men to see that life without God presents a hopeless outlook. Men have come to realize that to depend upon matter in any form for salvation from these conditions is to lean indeed upon a broken reed. Under such circumstances, then, it is not surprising to find thousands of people questioning, "Is there really a God? and if so, what is His nature? Where is He and is He available? Is there a God who can help me solve the problems with which I am confronted?" In the words of that beautiful solo Mendelssohn's oratorio of "Elijah" Christian Science declares that God is saying to us to-day, "If with all your hearts ye truly seek me, ye shall ever surely find me." It declares that God is available here and now, right in our very midst. Therefore I shall speak this evening, during the time allotted to this lecture, of Christian Science and its teaching of God's availability in human experience.

THE GREAT DISCOVERY

In 1866 a gentle New England woman lay upon her bed, suffering with a severe ailment which was the result of an accident. A devout Christian, educated and reared by her parents according to the best traditions of that day, this woman, Mary Baker Eddy, had through her whole life been seeking a more satisfactory understanding of God, a God available to her own human needs and those of her fellow-men. Experiment in medicine and other healing methods had led her step by step away from matter to a consecrated study of the Bible and the spiritual healings of Jesus and his disciples. At this point in her experience, alone and helpless, and nearing what her physician, what friends and relatives thought to be her death, she turned unreservedly from medicine to God, from matter to Mind. She sent from the room those who were with her and opened her Bible to the account in Matthew of the healing of the palsied man by Jesus. In that hour of extremity she experienced a spiritual revelation which raised her up a well woman. She dressed herself and walked into the next room, to the consternation and amazement of her friends. Face to face with God, the sense of pain and suffering faded away. She recognized her true heritage as a child of God and was free.

Fortunately for the world this was the beginning, not the end of a great experience, for she immediately commenced to study and ponder the spiritual law underlying her recovery. By this act this loving woman has made God available to all mankind through Christian Science. Thousands are to-day grateful for her life of service and in the future millions will rise up and call her blessed. Turning after her own healing to the Bible in her search for the law which made that healing possible, Mrs. Eddy saw that there must be an absolute Principle back of the life and works of Christ Jesus. She felt that there was a spiritual connection between her own recovery and the healings wrought by the Master, and her conclusions were arrived at and based solely on the Scriptures. Her study resulted in the discovery of what she termed "the Christ Science or the divine laws of Life, Truth, and Love." (Science and Health, p. 107). She declared that these laws, the law of Life, the law of Truth, the law of Love, could be clearly understood by men and that when understood they could be applied specifically to the myriad problems of the race.

SCRIPTURAL BASIS

At this point there may be those here who will say, "You ask me to accept Christian Science on the basis of the Bible. How can I do that? The discussions and debates of to-day and the radical differences in opinion even in churches of older faith than yours have unsettled my thoughts. How do you or I know that the Bible can be accepted as true?" Christian Science does not ask you to accept a single statement about the Bible or anything else which does not coincide with correct reason or that you cannot fully test by demonstration. Realizing this, Mrs. Eddy herself tested her discovery for years before she gave it to the world.

Not many months ago a young man came to me, a Japanese. He was born in the Orient and educated there. His parents and all his family are Buddhists and he had been reared in that belief. Naturally he knew little or nothing of the Bible or of Christianity, and the occidental ideas of God and of Christ Jesus were unknown to him. Like millions of other people the problems of life were forcing him to seek a solution and in his extremity Christian Science was presented. This man, a thinker, commenced the study of Christian Science solely from the standpoint of reason. There could be no other approach because of his utter unfamiliarity with and lack of faith in the Bible. Little by little he found that reason and revelation were being reconciled and followed by test or demonstration. In the line of reason a flood of light was thrown on the Bible and the life, works, and words of Jesus. This man, all his life a Buddhist, trained in modes of thinking entirely remote from our own, has accepted Christian Science and realizes that Mrs. Eddy has correctly and scientifically based her discovery on the Bible. The teachings of that book have been shown to him to be absolutely reasonable, logical, and demonstrable.

It is to be here noted that Mary Baker Eddy says she discovered Christian Science. She did not invent or originate it. In the same way that Lief Ericsson may be said to have discovered America, so she discovered or brought to light a Principle that has existed through all ages, an ever-operative divine law, indicating the harmony, Science, and continuity of being. It was the promised Comforter or Christ, the spiritual idea of God, and this Comforter or truth of being so illumined her consciousness with light that the divine facts of being came as a complete revelation, which she transcribed in the book known as "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," the textbook of Christian Science. Study of this book is revealing to all mankind "the Comforter which leadeth into all truth" (Science and Health, p. 127).

Down through the ages the law of God has always been available but there have been few who discerned enough of the truth to demonstrate it in human experience. Occasionally at various periods in history there have appeared great prophets and seers—Abraham, Moses, Elijah, Elisha, Isaiah, and others. These men approximated Truth sufficiently to uplift the thought of their people, and by practical proof demonstrate to an almost always doubting thought, an available God. Confucius, Socrates, and Plato also represent periods when men were reaching out for a clearer concept of God through philosophy, but the actual Science or law of being, the relation of God to man, they but dimly discerned.

JESUS OF NAZARETH

This remained to be exemplified in the life of Jesus of Nazareth. The son of a virgin, he came in fulfillment of the age-old promise to save his people from their sins. He therefore was known as the Saviour or Way-shower. This way was a scientific one, being based on exact understanding of God and His law. He defined for all time the true or right way of thinking and living, the way of Life, Truth, and Love. Mrs. Eddy and all Christian Scientists regard Christ Jesus as the highest example of spiritual living the world has ever known. They revere and honor him as the Way-shower, and are unspeakably grateful for his life of self-abnegation and righteousness.

Obviously the healings of the great Teacher indicated the existence and operation of some divine power. They indicated not ignorance but intelligence—that Jesus possessed accurate and scientific knowledge of God. If the position be taken that Christ Jesus was a wonder-worker who by some supernatural power and for some mysterious purpose set aside the rule or law of being, the whole mission of the Saviour falls to the ground—indeed he could no longer be called a savior. If his acts are to be viewed as a sporadic contravention of law his value as a redeemer is forever lost. His life and works would hold no meaning or promise for us. We would be without hope to-day. But Jesus was no violator of law. He was truly the Saviour, his whole life being devoted to carrying out the purpose and plan of man's salvation. This purpose of Christ Jesus was the fulfillment of God's will. Indeed he came as he himself declared, not to do "mine own will, but the will of the Father which hath sent me." He came, as the Bible says, the Messiah, to seek and save that which was lost.

In fulfilling his mission as a savior and redeemer, Jesus recognized that the only way to save those who were lost would be a practical one which he demonstrated in healing the sick and the suffering, raising the dead, and delivering men from sin. He said, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." Truth is the same in every age, through all eternity, and we declare that the same truth which Jesus knew and which enabled him to heal the sick and cast out devils, is the understanding of God and man which to-day is made available in Christian Science, and which Mrs. Eddy discovered in her study of the Bible and the life of Jesus.

GOD

This brings us to a discussion of God as understood in Christian Science. In fact all consideration of Christian Science must necessarily be predicated on a correct concept of Deity. But perhaps at this point someone may say, "But I do not believe in God. What Christian Science teaches regarding God does not interest me. I am an agnostic or an atheist." I know you will pardon me if I venture to suggest that what you no doubt mean is that you do not believe in the thousand or more differing beliefs and confusing statements regarding God in which mankind has for centuries involved itself. All these you may reasonably question, and in presenting the concept of God as understood in Christian Science, I do so with the knowledge that you will accept it only so far as it accords with clear and logical reasoning. Christian Science does not ask you to believe in God. It asks you to know or understand Him. Christian Science asks you to accept nothing on the basis of belief or faith. We only ask that you will think.

You do not deny that you are conscious; that you are conscious that you exist; that for the present you exist in this church and that something in the nature of intelligence brought you here. You are living, a living entity, and something makes you live and makes you think. You know that you think, that you have the power to think. Here we are, a great group of living, thinking, moving beings, and as our thought reaches out we realize that outside this church, in this city, in this country, yes, in all parts of the earth, there are billions more like ourselves, all living, thinking, moving, intelligent entities. What does it proclaim? What does it indicate? We exist, we are conscous of existence and conscious also that some force has brought us into being. Did we create or evolve ourselves? Can any one or all of us claim the distinction of being the origin or creator of all, or even a part, of conscious being? Reason enables us to recognize that all that we behold, even in a human way, certainly an immeasurable effect, can only proceed from a self-existent, self-perpetuating, and immeasurable cause, and leads us then logically to admit conscious existence, conscious intelligence and life infinitely manifested, and back of it all one infinite, intelligent cause which we in Christian Science reverently call God.

In line with such thinking, Mrs. Eddy states in Science and Health, on page 267, "God is one. The allness of Deity is His oneness." Christian Science is monotheistic in the very highest sense. It declares that God is not only one but All and all-inclusive, a conclusion which follows logically if the one sublime cause is infinite.

Christian Science demands a correct and thoughtful appraisal of words in their proper metaphysical sense. We all realize the possibility of their careless or shallow use when applied to Deity, but Mrs. Eddy gave them their full value. When she declared in her definition of God that He is All, she meant exactly that. "God. The great I Am; the all-knowing, all-seeing, all-acting, all-wise, all-loving, and eternal, Principle; Mind; Soul; Spirit; Life; Truth; Love; all substance; intelligence" (Science and Health, p. 587). In the same manner she employs the word "infinite" exactly and entirely in accord with the best standard dictionaries.

Christian Science affirms logically that there cannot be more than one. All, one all-inclusive, self-existent, and immeasurable God. It also follows that since the cause of all conscious being is self-existent it must also be eternal, and wholly good. Christian Science reveals, too, that since God is the one I AM, the infinite cause of the universe, including man, He is in nature not only Father but also Mother, embodying all the attributes of love, gentleness, mercy, and goodness, "our Father-Mother God" (Science and Health, p. 16).

EVIL UNREAL

Mrs. Eddy through spiritual logic perceived that God was infinite and wholly good and stuck to it in the face of everything that the material senses declare to the contrary. And now someone is thinking, "But evil, what do you say about evil? Isn't it real?" If evil is real, actual, it must be true; if true, it is a part of Truth, God-created and God-ordained. If God is to be regarded as the cause and creator of evil, where does it lead us? To the inevitable and unthinkable conclusion that the intelligent creator of the universe is the originator of all sin, disease, disaster and accident; that God deliberately makes men sinful, criminal, and sick, and then punishes them for impulses and instincts for which they are wholly irresponsible. Is that an intelligent concept of God? Does that satisfy you and make you happy? Does it inspire your respect, your veneration, your love, your devotion? Does it satisfy your reason to ascribe to God all the pain, sin, and suffering of the human family? And again, if God has made us ill, unhappy, or sinful, if He is the origin of all our trouble, how dare we attempt, through the aid of physicians or Christian Science, to escape the eternal incubus of evil that this God has put upon us?

Thinking based on the false concept of the existence of both good and evil is wholly futile. And if we say there are two causes, one good and another evil, what is it but idolatry? One can see that the pagans rather naturally, but without reason, followed the testimony of their senses, which told them that there was much that was not good. But to-day shall we follow those same unreliable senses, senses which are being proved more and more untrustworthy and untrue? Can we accept the conclusion of a good God, and a devil or evil god; or shall we follow the Mosaic command, "Thou shalt have no other gods before me"? Christ Jesus speaking of evil said, "He is a liar, and the father of it,"—the lie that evil is real, God-bestowed and God-created. A lie—that was the only name he had for devil or Satan.

CREATION

The all-wise, the all-seeing, the all-acting, and all-loving cause could originate and conceive of creation only as like itself, perfect, eternal, and good. Creation, then, the universe including man, is the intelligent, orderly effect of a supreme mental cause, and this infinite cause is self-existent Mind, spiritual and eternal. The activity of Mind is thinking, and the product of thinking is thoughts, and Christian Science declares that the divine Mind or God is revealed in thoughts or ideas, that these thoughts are eternal in the Mind conceiving them, and therefore that they are ideas of Truth, indestructible and immutable. What is the nature of a true thought, or to put it another way, an idea of Truth? Is it not to enlighten, to free from ignorance or error? Jesus said that we should know the truth (true ideas) and that these true or right ideas would make us free. In other words the true idea is the savior from error or ignorance. Truth is the redeemer of consciousness, redeeming, saving us from ignorant, dark, and erroneous thinking.

Can we conceive of a universe without order, precision, or law, a universe devoid of thought or ideas? When thinking ceases does not consciousness also cease? What becomes of a man without Mind and ideas? A nonentity or non-existence. As a man thinketh, so is he, and Mrs. Eddy says in Science and Health, on page 109, "Christian Science reveals incontrovertibly that Mind is All-in-all, that the only realities are the divine Mind and idea."

Modern psychology, of course, will tell you that the brain is the seat of our intelligence, that thoughts or ideas have their origin inside our heads. How inspiring! How reasonable! Consider for a moment our thinking even on a human plane since we rose this morning. What has been going on? Thoughts, thoughts, thoughts in rapid succession, so fast, so many, and so varied that we cannot begin to calculate or number them. Where do they come from? Where is their origin? A piece of gray pulpy matter inside a skull? Does spiritual Truth and inspiration find its beginning in a cerebrum or cerebellum? And again, if truth or ideas originate in one man's skull or brain what shall the remainder of us do? Shall we be deprived of those ideas? How shall we get them? Shall we not have truth too?

Christian Science teaches that Truth or true ideas are in their very nature omnipresent and ever available, and denominates as superstition the notion that the majesty of Mind and its infinite manifestation should find its beginning in a piece of gray matter. Who ever saw a thought in a brain? No one, and no one ever will, for it isn't there. Mrs. Eddy in what she has exactly termed "the scientific statement of being" says in Science and Health (p. 468), "There is no life, truth, intelligence, nor substance in matter. All is infinite Mind and its infinite manifestation, for God is All-in-all. Spirit is immortal Truth; matter is mortal error. Spirit is the real and eternal; matter is the unreal and temporal. Spirit is God, and man is His image and likeness. Therefore man is not material; he is spiritual."

MAN

Man spiritual—the exact and complete image of God in accordance with the first chapter of Genesis, "So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created him; male and female created he them;" so is man declared to be in Christian Science. Let us consider this man for a moment. If God is infinite Mind, then man, His likeness, is the spiritual reflection or image of infinite Mind. God becomes immediately available to us as intelligence, wisdom, and perception, infinitely manifested. If God is cause or the Life of all being, and man is the exact image or likeness of Life, God becomes available to us as our very life and being, the energy and intelligence back of all our movements and action. Again, since God is good or Love, then man is the complete image or reflection of infinite good or Love. God becomes available to us as substance, supply, purity, and righteousness, infinitely manifested.

What does it mean to be a son of God, a real man? Does it not mean the perception and establishment of our unity with God, a realization that we are the exact and perfect image and likeness of Life, Truth, and Love, the Father-Mother God? Christ Jesus claimed his divine sonship and the priests and Pharisees called him a blasphemer, but he was only asserting his natural and divine heritage as a child of God. Shall we do less? As John says, "Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God." The New Testament is filled with statements indicating man's spiritual and divine sonship.

NATURE OF THE CHRIST

In claiming his spiritual heritage as the reflection of infinite Mind, Jesus thereby established his identity as the Christ. This is the spiritual idea of sonship of which Jesus referred when he said, "Before Abraham was, I am," and, "I and my Father are one."

Christan Science distinguishes between the corporeal man Jesus and the Christ or Truth which he exemplified and lived. If Jesus had not appeared as a human being practically explaining and demonstrating in the flesh this Christ-sonship, mortals would not have appreciated or understood him. His healings were the proofs of his divine sonship, and the Bible says that he did many wonderful works in the name of God. What was it, then, that enabled him to do these works? They were concrete exhibitions of spiritual force, of intelligence. What was the power back of these healings, and how is it that people are healed in Christian Science to-day? This, my friends, is the same queston that was put to Jesus centuries ago, and the answer is still the same. It was the Christ or spiritual and exact understanding of God, of Truth, Life, and Love, reflected by the Master, which did the work, and it is that same spiritual scientfc knowledge of God and man reflected, in measure, by students of Christian Science to-day which is manifested in multitudes of healed and regenerated men and women. This spiritual understanding, then, was the Mind that was in Christ Jesus, revealing itself in ideas or thoughts so great and potent that they enabled him to heal all manner of disease and raise the dead. Explaining his works he said: "The words [the ideas or thoughts] that I speak unto you, they are spirit and they are life." It was the potency, then, or the divine Mind which was in Christ Jesus which healed the sick and sinning and it is that same spiritual thinking of Christian Scientists today that is doing the work which he said would be done by those who believed, understood, his word or thought.

ALL MAY HEAL

One of the distinctive features of Christian Science is the fact that the power to heal and regenerate mankind is open to all. It is yours, to-night. It belongs to no privileged class or group of people. It is true that there are thousands of consecrated men and women who are devoting their lives to the ministry or practice of healing as taught in Christian Science, but to-night any one of you, earnestly seeking Truth, may commence the study of Christian Science and its actual practice, up to your highest light. To-night you you may begin to approximate the understanding of Christian Science and apply it in your life and the problems of your daily living. Do you believe it blasphemous to assume the right and power to heal as Jesus did? Do you believe that Christian Scientists are assuming too much in their loving endeavor to lift the heavy burdens of their brothers and let the oppressed go free? Shall Christian Scientists be criticised for their effort to completely fulfill the injunctions of the Master to heal the sick? Are we so remote from God, so separated in belief? Have they taken away our Lord that we know not where they have laid him? People strangely marvel at what they call miraculous manifestations of divine power. But why should they marvel? Should it surprise us to see concrete evidence of that one omnipotent God who governs the universe and man in pefect harmony and order? The works of healing and regeneration seem incredible only because humanity has continued on its sorrowing, suffering way in ignorance of its Redeemer. "God is not in all [their] thoughts." The operation of God's law should seem the most natural thing on earth to us. If God is All and everpresent, should we not have that attitude which naturally expects to see the power and glory of God manifest at every hand? There is a little boy of four in our neighborhood. Through his grandmother he has been taught something of the truths of Christian Science. Recently he wandered away from home and was gone for over an hour. His family was greatly worried, and his mother, who was not a Christian Scientist, was full of fear. When he finally arrived home quite serene and whole, she said, "Oh, Sonny, Mother was so worried about you. Just suppose an automobile had run over you and you had been killed!" The child looked up at her in surprise and said, "Why, Mother, I would have arosen." How we all need that sweet simple trust in God. This little fellow had glimpsed something of the immortality and continuity of being and confidently expected to see it manifested. The knowledge of God and His ever-available law in Christian Science establishes a natural expectancy of good.

If the Bible statement, "In him we live, and move, and have our being," be true, and logic and reason coincide with revelation in declaring that it is, how, it may well be asked, can humanity expect to go through life, day after day and year after year, with hardly a thought as to that divine, all-inclusive presence in whom we actually exist? Is God to be left out of His own creation? Is man a separate and separated entity revolving in an orbit of his own? The Psalmist said, "Whither shall I go from thy spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence? . . . If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea; even there shall thy hand lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me." As has been said before, Jesus declared, "I and my Father are one." This is no separation but a distinct and eternal unity and he demonstrated its value to the race by his works. Christian Science teaches that all men will sooner or later be awakened out of this false sense of separation and realize that to know and love God, Mind, and demonstrate our unity with that Mind must be the dominating motive of our lives. Godless living with its inevitable results, sin, sickness, and death, forces men eventually to turn to Spirit for a solution of their problems, but why wait to be forced? Thousands of people to-day are turning from the fleshpots of materialism and are coming to God through the understanding of Christian Science, instead of the way of suffering.

As a first step in this direction let us assure ourselves of our love for God, good. Do we really love the Lord our God with all our heart, with all our might, and with all our mind? With the materiality of modern life so beclouding spiritual sense, how often through the day do most people think of God, even for a moment? Without question almost all will say that they very much need and desire the love of God, but to what extent are they loving Him? At this first step in growth a young student may frequently remind himself, "I do love Thee, God, with all my heart and what I most desire is a knowledge of Thee and of Thy law." This childlike turning to the Father-Mother God, this sincere desire for righteousness, is the beginning of true prayer in Christian Science.

PRAYER

Many people have abandoned the concept of God as a glorified kind of man, but there are still those who think of Him as a great distance away and address their prayers to a place called heaven, somewhere—as an old religious song puts it, "beautiful isle of somewhere." But God, the all-inclusive Mind, is not somewhere but everywhere, right here. "For what nation is there so great, who hath God so nigh unto them, as the Lord our God is in all things that we call upon him for?" Unfolding as it does the fact that God is omnipresent, Christian Science changes our mental attitude in prayer. Petitions to a far-away God may naturally cause doubt as to their being heard, but there is nothing standing between man and God, not even a sense of distance. In Christian Science all things are become new and this is true of prayer both in form and expression.

Those attending our services for the first time may have remarked that the only public prayer we have is a few moments of silent communion with God followed by the audible repetition of the Lord's Prayer alone, or of that prayer with its spiritual interpretation as given in the Christian Science textbook, and perhaps you may have wondered why these prayers are silent. Christian Scientists pray silently both publicly and in private. In James we read, "The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much." For centuries people have repeated audibly, day after day and year after year, the same prayers, many of them written ages ago, until they have begun to realize that fervency is no longer there, that often they are not said in a true spirit of righteousness, and most of all, that they are neither effectual nor available. Silent prayer leads us away from formula and ritual and the danger of vain repetition. True communion with God obviously cannot be a set form of speech but the inspired thought of the moment as it comes to each one of us, the very realization of God's ever-presence and operative Love. Inasmuch as human consciousness is constantly changing from day to day so must the thought that governs prayer also change. The need of to-day will not necessarily be the need of to-morrow. The spiritual demand of one man may not be the demand of his brother. To have the true unction of inspiration prayer must be spontaneous, fulfilling the spiritual requirement of the moment for each son of God. Jesus recognized this when he said, "Thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet [the secret sanctuary of your own thinking], and when thou has shut thy door [denied and barred out the beliefs of materialism], pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly." "No accents flow, no words ascend;

All utterance faileth there;
But God Himself doth comprehend
And answer silent prayer."
(Christian Science Hymnal, No. 43.)

Who can penetrate or know that inmost longing deep in the heart of our brother, that silent reaching out for God, sometimes even when the outward manifestation gives no such evidence? Silent prayer unifies God and man. There is no intercession here. Straight to the throne of grace we may humbly and silently take our desires to be molded and transformed according to the pattern of the Christ.

PROGRESS AND STUDY

Christian Science commences where it finds us, it may be in sin, disease, or poverty, and begins right there the process of redemption and salvation. This redemption of the individual is not accomplished in a moment, by a kind of supernatural transformation of human beings into angels of light, rather is it the gradual and daily putting off of evil and erroneous ways of thinking, replacing them with thoughts that have their being in the one God, divine Mind. There is no record in the Bible that Jesus instantaneously turned people into saints. He met the immediate need, destroyed the specific disease or sin, and then said, "Go, and sin no more,"—clear evidence that the process of salvation was to be continued by the individual, in better ways of thinking and living until all evil disappeared. The life of Christ Jesus revealed the way of salvation but it remains for each one of us to study that Christ-way in the Bible and Science and Health and then, up to our highest light, endeavor to walk in it.

You will note that I speak of the study of Christian Science, of study as contrasted with reading. My acquaintance with Christian Science goes back many years, to early boyhood, in fact. During these years I have discussed the subject with many people. Every now and then I meet an individual who, when Christian Science is mentioned, will say, "Christian Science—oh, yes, I've looked into Christian Science, but there's nothing in it." Looked in? Looked into Christian Science, the Science of all truth or true being! What estimate do you suppose people would place upon me as a thinker if I were to so casually remark, "Mathematics—oh, yes, I've looked into the science of mathematics, but there's nothing in it."

My friends, Christian Science is a science, the demonstrable Science of being, and it has to be studied. There is no other way to get it. As in our academic work we study the science of mathematics, and step by step, master certain of the basic rules and then proceed to apply them to the common mathematical problems that come into our experience, so is it with Christian Science. Here a little, there a little, through study of the textbook, together with the Bible, we acquire a growing knowledge of the divine Principle which we may apply and find available in the minutest details of human living. Let us take for instance the all too prevalent tendency to lose one's temper. Few of those affected with this unpleasant habit wish to keep it. Many struggle to overcome it and suffer great remorse whenever it seems to manifest itself. King Solomon never spoke a truer word than when he said in Proverbs, "He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that ruleth his spirit than he that taketh a city." Quick temper, as we all know, is often the cause of broken friendships, unhappiness in families, and discordant relations in church and business. Just as soon as one commences the study of Christian Science, however, he begins to see the true meaning of self-control, real self-government; that divine Mind being the only intelligence of man can and will govern and control every thought and motive aright. He discovers how to check this disposition, as people often say, "to fly off the handle" and to maintain the poise and peace of spiritual dominion. In Christian Science we perceive that hasty temper sometimes arises from a too ready impulse to misunderstand our brother's motives or jump to a conclusion without having thoughtfully considered all the elements concerned. Even a slight perception that divine Love alone governs man shows us how to restrain our impatience. It shows us, too, how to stop and say to ourselves, "Now see here, this man even though he entertains a point of view different from my own is entitled to his opinion. If he is wrong certainly no exercise of anger, force, or human will is going to convert him to my way of thinking. Besides, my own thought in this matter may be wrong, and if it is, I want to give it up, because I would not willingly hold to any erroneous or unintelligent way of looking at things." Checking ourselves in this way, we naturally learn to respect another's opinion. Resentment, intolerance, and self-will are cast out and replaced by the mental qualities of brotherliness, poise, and forbearance. The way opens up for a mutual understanding of the point under consideration. With anger out of the way, all parties concerned see and think clearly, and unanimity of thought is finally manifested. Complete dominion over temper and irritability may not be attained at once, but it is a blessed thing to start this overcoming process. Thousands of people can testify that gradually through the earnest application and study of Christian Science real success in this direction has been achieved.

I realize that study necessarily makes a demand upon us for thinking, and that when it comes to questions of spiritual reason and logic, which naturally bring us into the realm of God, the human mind is inclined to be astonishingly lazy and apathetic. But one of the greatest blessings which comes through the study of Christian Science is the increased ability to think. Indeed, it shows us how to think, to think accurately, clearly, and with power. It teaches us that since God is Mind, that God is the Mind of all His children—of man—that we can in this hour, as sons of God, call upon this Mind for infinite intelligence, wisdom, perspicacity, and vision. It is the divine right of man to think, to think rightly and with power, to think with that Mind which was in Christ Jesus.

This question of thinking reminds me of a boyhood experience which was so helpful that I have never forgotten it. One September at the opening of the school year, I discovered that by some new rule I could elect without consultation my own course of study. I thought that was fine, so I quickly arranged a program with all the subjects I liked—English, history, French, German, and art—carefully omitting those I did not like—mathematics, physics, and the other sciences—and I felt quite proud of myself. A day or so later I was in the studio of a gentleman who has since become a Christian Science practitioner. At that time he was teaching music and I had come for a lesson. Suddenly he said, "By the way, what are you taking at school this year?" and with a great deal of complacency I told him the program I had selected. To my great surprise he said, 'But you are not taking any mathematics!' "Oh, no," I said, "I don't like mathematics." "Well," he replied, "that is not a good reason. You should learn to think. You go home and change your course; take some geometry and learn to demonstrate the truth." It was a hard blow but I took it. I went home, changed my program and took geometry and I tell you it is one of the best things that ever happened to me, because it forced me to demonstrate the truth. I was compelled to reason, to think; I was obliged to turn unreservedly to divine Mind for intelligence and it destroyed that lazy mental state which just wanted an easy time and was unwilling to do any really constructive thinking.

HUMANITY OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

One of the most wonderful and blessed features of Christian Science is the fact that although a purely mental or spiritual Science it never loses sight of the personal element and human need. Mrs. Eddy speaking of this in Science and Health (p. 127) says that "the term Christian Science relates especially to Science as applied to humanity." As stated in Science and Health (p. 25), "The divinity of the Christ was made manifest in the humanity of Jesus." A true metaphysician, he had tender regard for the suffering of an afflicted people. When they were hungry he fed them spiritually, but he also met the human need with bread. There is nothing, if I may be permitted to use the expression, "up in the air" about Christian Science. It does not consist of a lot of beautiful nebulous thoughts and theories giving people a momentary uplift but utterly ignoring the actual human need. Real Christian Scientists are practical, commonsense people. They do not go about with their heads in the clouds and their feet in the mire. They are not cold or heartless. The scientific understanding of God as Love inevitably makes men kind and charitable, inspiring a spirit of true benevolence. There is nothing in the teaching of Christian Science that warrants a heartless disregard or ignoring of the suffering and misfortunes of our fellow-men. It is true that Christian Scientists do not enlarge upon, discuss, or accept as real or God-given the evil in human experience, but they are quick to respond to every honest or worthy appeal for help in meeting the immediate needs of their fellow-men everywhere. The charitable healing and regenerating work carried on by Christian Scientists in penitentiaries, jails, and prisons is the natural effect of our teaching that God is Love, and man therefore loving.

No better illustration of the humanitarian motive pervading Christian Science can be found than the establishment by Mrs. Eddy of the great international daily newspaper, The Christian Science Monitor, designed, as she said, "to injure no man, but to bless all mankind" (The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany, p. 353). A newspaper writer from girlhood, Mrs. Eddy keenly appreciated the potency of journalism and its effect upon the thinking of the world. We often hear the term "power of the press" but to what extent have we analyzed it to see just what it means—power of the press? To what extent have we seen that what is known as human consciousness is largely constructed, framed, or built up through what we read in the newspaper? We think, whether we realize it or not, largely in terms of the printed page. Indeed it is said that we are a newspaper-governed people. Much that we think or talk about through the day finds its origin or first expression in the newspaper. Consider for a moment! Every morning here in this city thousands of you get up and stream out into the streets and buy a newspaper. And then what? Each one commences to fill his consciousness with thoughts of crime, disaster, scandal, accident, disease, and death—not very good mental food with which to begin the work of a day. Recently a professor in Bradford College, England, made the statement that five-sixths of the thinking done by the civilized world was furnished it by the newspapers.

Now Mrs. Eddy, great woman that she was, looking below the surface of things, saw the tremendous power of the printed page, the communication of ideas to human consciousness through that medium. She recognized, too, the part that the press plays in all this, and conceived the idea of a newspaper reflecting the spirit of truth, of honesty, integrity, and righteousness in business affairs, in government, in the home, in education, in art, in every department of life, in fact. The Monitor to-day is acknowledged by many of the great men of the time to be the criterion for all newspapers. It is a wayshower in journalism. Its practical influence upon human affairs cannot be estimated, and only love for mankind inspired its inception and is its governing purpose.

The Monitor, presenting, as it does, world affairs from the standpoint of universal love and the brotherhood of man, is uncovering to human consciousness the basic cause of war—war between individuals as well as nations. And what is the root cause, the basis of world strife and conten-

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Heredity Obesity

"My Dear Doctor: Ever since I can remember I've been frightfully fat. Have been told time and time again that it was my nature to be so, so accepted same and went on with my discontented lot.

"Upon reading your articles for our paper, I found that you ridicule 'hereditary' obesity. (My parents are fat, by the way,) I wrote you last February and you sent me your priceless booklet. I fairly devoured it. It is clear and so convincing that I pledged myself to you.

"I am five feet, two inches, and weighed — then — 174 pounds—UGH! I hate to visualize myself. Today I weigh 122 pounds.

"Dr. Peters, I feel like climbing the highest peak of the Himalayan mountains and shouting your praises. Wherever I go all I hear is: 'You look splendid. I'd never believe you are the mother of two children'—'so girlish,' etcetera. I ask you, doctor, what woman does not revel in such praise?

"Now I am interested in the latest fashions — before you couldn't interest me in a $1,000 gown since I've always believed a fat woman unattractive in the best.

"With a heart overbubbling with thanks and good wishes to you, most sincerely,—Mrs. L."

I am glad you demonstrated the nothingness of hereditary obesity. I'll repeat what has been said about that bugaboo. We may inherit strong stomachs and weak wills, but not obesity. In reality the majority of cases of so-called hereditary obesity are imitation obesities. A child always imitates the habits of his parents, in eating and other things, but especially in eating.

Congratulations on your wonderful results and many thanks for letting us know of them. These enthusiastic letters encourage others and undoubtedly save lives. Between us we will put a lot of heart, kidney and diabetic specialists out of practice.

Spotted Finger Nails

Mrs. L.—White spots on the nails indicate that there has been some injury to the root of the nail. This is most often done while manicuring. Sometimes there will be a white streak just exactly the same curve as the cuticle around the nail. Other times the spots will be irregularly placed.

By running the point of an orange wood stick or some other manicuring instrument gently under it, every day, the cuticle will not become attached to the nail and so won't grow down. It is not the cuticle that grows, but the nail, which as it grows, pulls the cuticle with it. It is important to keep the cuticle smooth for "hang nails" may become inflamed.

Anemia

W.—We recently wrote on anemia and explained that the diet should contain at least one quart of milk for its calcium and complete protein, and liberal amounts of the iron bearing foods, especially the green vegetables, egg yolks, plenty of whole wheat bread and butter.

Blood is usually taken from the tip of the ear for testing, because the ear is plentifully supplied with blood vessels and is not very sensitive. Sometimes the tip of the finger is used also.

Hope.—You should have your injured knee examined by an orthopedic surgeon at once. You may be permanently lame if you do not.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s.a.s.e., if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

CLEAN SMELLING HAIR

About this time every year I receive a lot of letters that greatly amuse me. Readers complain about bad odors from the hair and want to know what to do to avoid them. At first glance, one wants to say "wash it," but that isn't the answer, for a few days after a thorough shampoo the hair may have the same close odor again.

The fault is that we live, these cold days, in over-heated rooms, sometimes we spend hours and hours every day in the kitchen, where the heat of the stove spreads the smell of dish water, baking meat, cooking vegetables, and steaming clothes, until it penetrates not only the house, but the worker's clothes, her very skin, certainly her hair.

Hair has a curious characteristic. Get some one who is smoking a cigarette or cigar to lean down and blow a mouthful of smoke right into the fur of a cat. The smoke will cling to the fur. I've known it to take fifteen minutes to rise completely from the long fur of an angora. Human hair will keep smoke close to it the same way. Hair attracts and holds odors. Yet, because most women let down their hair and shake and brush it well every night, the odors disappear. But if you spend your indoor time in badly-ventilated rooms, and wear heavy, warm hats out of doors, and then don't brush and air your hair at bedtime, you're sure to keep a collection of bad odors and finally to notice that your hair smells close.

The solution lies in brushing and shaking the hair, not in a room that's been lived in with shut windows all day, but either out of doors or in a room with open windows, or one recently aired. erhaps the hair is worn packed tightly against the head so it cannot ventilate itself. Light hats should always be worn at all seasons.

Worried Beauty: The depilatories you mention will not rid you of the hair any more than the clipping does now, and they may make the growth stiff, just as shaving does. I doubt if the clipping caused the hair to grow on your neck, for if you fear it, the only alternative is to let your hair grow long and then brush all of the stray hairs up into the mass.

H. L.: At 18 years, height five feet two inches, your weight should be about 110 pounds. If you eat less of all starchy foods, especially potatoes and white bread, and all sweets and fats, you will lose the extra weight in a few months. The double chin and pouch on back of neck will be gone when you are normal weight again.

Mary Jane: You will add to your nourishment if you eat just a little more than you want, for the reason that you have likely trained your stomach to take small quantities of food. Eat more slowly than usual, so there will be improved assimilation. Take at least a pint of hot milk before retiring at night.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question—The Editor.

Girls are today wearing severe neckties like the men so the following directions may be used by the maker herself. Only one spool of "Aviation" silk is needed to make this article and a number ten steel crochet hook.

The "Satin Stitch" is used—which consists of making a single crochet over a single crochet into the row below.

Chain 26 stitches. Row One: Work 25 single crochet, chain one, turn. Tow Two: 12 single crochet one satin stitch, 12 single crochet, chain one, turn.

Row Three: Eleven single crochet, one satin stitch, one single crochet, one satin stitch, eleven single crochet. Row Four: Same as Row Two. Row Five: Five single crochet, one satin stitch, 13 single crochet, one satin stitch, five single crochet.

Row Six: Four single crochet, one satin stitch, one single crochet, one satin stitch, eleven single crochet, one satin stitch, one single crochet, one satin stitch, four single crochet, chain one, turn. Row Seven: Same as Row Five.

Repeat second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh dows, till work measures 15 inches. Decrease for neckband by skipping second and next to last stitch every fourth row till eleven stitches remain.

Neckband: Work in single crochet till neckband is one inch shorter than shirt band.

Short End: Increase in same order as decreased; work in design till work measures ten inches after increasing.

Answer to "Girlie": It is hard to tell in print just how to make pompons. Why don't you ask some old knitter in your neighborhood to show you? I am sure anybody would be glad to. But I will try to explain:

Pompons: Cut two circular pieces of pasteboard, one and one-fourth inches in diameter. Cut a hole one-fourth inch in diameter in center of each. Thread long strands of yarn on a darning needle and wind around the two pasteboard pieces, from center to outer edge. When they are entirely covered, cut open at outer edge, force pasteboards apart and tie in center firmly with a double strand of yarn, leaving long ends. Remove pasteboard, shake out pompons and cut until perfectly round.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the "Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Jan. 31.—Edwin Baker, member of the Los Angeles City Council and resident of this community, who was recently appointed one of a committee of three councilmen to draw the lines of the fifteen councilmanic districts provided under the new charter, believes that the city can best be served without community aid in carrying out this work. In declining the cooperation of a committee of twenty-five representative citizens, Councilman Baker said:

"Such a committee at this time would only tend to confusion. This statement is based on my experience during the last session of the state legislature as author of the reapportionment bill. The average person has no idea of the problems presented until undertaking the actual work of figuring out and equalizing the vote. At best only a tentative map could be submitted at this time and this work is being performed by the city clerk. After the committee has completed its work and equalized the districts in accordance with figures submitted by the city clerk, based on the 1922 vote for governor, the committee will then be ready to receive suggestions and recommendations from interested parties, Chambers of Commerce, Improvement associations, organizations, individuals, or any group of citizens or communities concerned."

Reporting on the recent Presbyterian church social, Dr. William Middlemass, pastor, states that, both in attendance and quality of entertainment, it was a big success. Among those present were fourteen charter members of the church, which was organized in 1914. There were originally thirty-one charter members, states Dr. Middlemass. There are now 550 members of the Eagle Rock Presbyterian church.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. M. Davis and three daughters of Mt. Union, Penn., have left on a tour around the world.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, Jan. 31.—The City Trustees have acceded to the request of the Chamber of Commerce for an official census, and have instructed the city attorney to draft the necessary proceedings.

This action is the outcome of suggestions made by City Attorney E. E. Kirk, in an address before the local Rotary club and later contained in an article prepared for the trustees by Mr. Kirk, setting forth the advantages both of the taking of a new census and adoption of the charter form of government. The taking of a new census is held by Mr. Kirk to be one of the first steps necessary in the adoption of the charter form of government.

The trustees have awarded to W. J. Curren the contract for improving Magnolia avenue from San Fernando boulevard to the Southern Pacific tracks. M. Cochran, a local tree expert, has been employed by the city to trim the trees along Olive and Angeleno avenues. SUNLAND NOTES

SUNLAND, Jan. 31.—Controversy over the properties to be included in the boundaries of the proposed city of Sunland caused the Board of Supervisors to again postpone the hearing of petitions asking for an election to vote on incorporation of a city of the sixth class. The meeting was held in Los Angeles and the postponement sets the date of the next meeting for Monday, February 9, the same date on which petitions asking for an election at Tujunga on the incorporation question will be presented for a hearing.

Conflicting opinions over the inclusion or exclusion of acreage in the proposed boundaries and what constitutes acreage was the hub around which the dissension revolved. Earl Newmire of Sunland is acting for the petitioners to see that all legal points are observed in the handling of the project.

Miss Adaline Coke spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Coke of George street. Miss Coke is employed in the Alhambra schools.

The Wrath To Come

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM, Copyright 1924

CHAPTER XXXV

"Admirably," Grant replied, accepting his invitation. "But I'm not going to cure your seasickness by telling you my secrets."

Cornelius Blunn smiled faintly.

"You're a nice lad," he said. "Pity you aren't a German. I'd have made a great man of you."

"I am very glad I am not a German."

"Why?"

Grant shrugged his shoulders.

"Well," he pointed out, "of course every nation has its characteristics, bad and good. Your people are industrious, domesticated, subject to discipline, and full of courage. On the other hand they are the most egregiously selfish and egotistical race upon the face of the earth. It is Germany first, and let any one else exist that may. That is what I don't like about your people."

Cornelius Blunn did not reply for a moment.

"It may seem so to the world," he conceded presently. "You see we are a nation of individualists."

The troubled look returned to Blunn's face.

"A chapter of accidents has befallen me," he explained. "Muller, my body servant, and Felix, my secretary, who came over with me, missed the boat at Southampton. Both were executing commissions for me late in London, and I sent them down by car. They had an accident, twelve miles from Guildford, and both were too injured to continue the journey. The steward does his best, but I am not used to being alone. If any other boat could have got me over in time for the Conference, where my presence in an advisory capacity is required, I should have postponed my departure."

Grant murmured a few words of sympathy and presently departed. On the deck he met Lord Yeovil, with whom he turned and walked.

"Blunn seems to be quite ill," he confided.

"Unfortunately men do not die of seasickness," the other rejoined. "It sounds a brutal thing to say, I suppose, but, in my opinion, it would be a great benefit to the world if Blunn were to be removed from it. I have come to the conclusion within the last few weeks, Slattery, that, more than any other man living, Cornelius Blunn represents the spirit of warfare and unrest. He is the personification of all that is evil in the German system. I can quite believe your story that he carries with him day and night a famous letter of hate, inscribed by his father on his deathbed. He not only carries the letter, but he carries the spirit."

"One is so often tempted to like the man," Grant remarked. "And yet I know that you're right. If all that we suspect of his domestic intrigues in America is true, he is a very terrible person. I hope Lady Susan is keeping well. I haven't seen her about."

"She is playing deck tennis forward," her father replied. "A pleasant game but a trifle energetic for this warm weather. Lutrecht and his faithful henchman, Von Diss, are playing ecarte in the smoke room. Did you know, Slattery, that Von Diss was to be one of the German entourage?"

"I had no idea of it," Grant answered hastily and with perfect truth. "I met the Princess in Bond Street the day before we sailed and she told me that her husband was arriving in London that afternoon. She gave me no idea that it was for the purpose of proceeding to the States or that she was accompanying him."

"They keep their secrets well, these Germans," Lord Yeovil mused. "They have method and reticence. I must go and spend my usual hour with Arthur. I don't think I ever had such a mess of material to master in my life—pretty terrible, some of it, too."

Grant strolled on and threw himself into a chair close to the rail. "Method and reticence!" He thought for a moment of Cleo's whispered wrods. If they were true, and he had never doubted them, the whole secret of the poisonous domestic conspiracy, as much or more to be dreaded than any avalanche of foreign aggression, was contained in two small volumes—neat, they would be; precise, they would be; venomous, they would surely be—and never so nearly within his grasp as now. He fell to studying the ethics of the much-debated problem of justification by result. Cornelius Blunn, at the present moment, was probably more helpless than he would ever be found again. Was it worth the risk of failure, the plan that was slowly forming itself in his mind? . . .

Von Diss, very neat and dapper in white flannel trousers and blue serge coat of nautical cut, came up and touched Grant on the arm. He always made a show of being very friendly with the rival whom he hated.

"I saw you talking to our friend, Cornelius Blunn," he said. "His condition puzzles me. It is a terrible thing to suffer so from such a simple cause. Incomprehensible, too! He enjoys sailing as much as any man, and yet directly he gets on a big steamer, he collapses altogether."

"He was very ill coming over," Grant remarked. "Yet he was himself again the night after landing. His speech at the Whitehall Rooms was an admirable production."

Von Diss nodded.

"He is not old," he went on, half to himself. "He is a strong man. His mentality is amazing. Yet this simple illness seems to have thrown him into a strange disorder. I made a harmless request to him this morning, and he ordered me away."

"A harmless request!" Grant felt a sudden inspiration. "A harmless request!" Bearing in mind Cornelius Blunn's unprotected state, Von Diss had probably asked for the care of the casket or that it be deposited in the ship's safe. It was a perfectly reasonable suggestion.

"I expect you will find him better tomorrow," Grant observed. "The Princess is, I trust, not suffering?"

"She is a little tired, but she has no mal de mer," her husband replied. "I go now to fetch her. Presently I shall talk with our friend, Cornelius Blunn, again."

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"Love Laughs" will be presented tonight for the last time at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre. Monday the Dobinson Players open with "Wedding Bells," in a new schedule of a performance every night except Sunday and with a matinee Saturdays, states Mrs. Florence Dobinson, who promises that the new play is a comedy of unusual merit. The curtain rises tonight, as usual, at 8:15 o'clock.

Mary Worth plays the leading role in "Love Laughs." Others in this well-selected cast are Mary Isabelle Alpaugh, Joseph McManus, William H. Stephens, Richard Ehlers, Eugenia Florence, Arthur Lovejoy and Harry J. Glazier.

The author of "Love Laughs" is George D. Parker, and the play has a dual plot. A nerve specialist is besought by a love-sick bachelor to be pronounced sick, that he may be nursed back to health by the young woman of his fancy. The specialist agrees and a riotous series of situations develop. Many who have seen this comedy, declare it is the best offering of the Dobinson Players, to date.

THE GATEWAY

A record bill will greet patrons at the Gateway theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. It is Dore's masterpiece of art, "Dante's Inferno," faithfully reproduced in motion pictures. The New York World has the following to say of this famous picture:

"The screen version of the 'Inferno' which opened last night at the Central theatre is more Dore than Dante, but it is Dore perfectly recaptured. There is something uncanny in watching these dim, half-forgotten pictures come to life before your eyes. The director has reveled in the traditional terror of hell, he piles horror upon horror with the most naive and innocent delight. It is a pictorial orgy of blood-stained furies and boiling pitch, of bat-winged fiends and harpies and everlasting flames, and through it all the white, writhing figures of the damned "blown like cranes upon a mighty wind."

Manager Loper states that he has procured for Wednesday only the big picture "Gold Heels" which will be shown in conjunction with the regular bill of select vaudeville.

THE GLENDALE

Bryant Washburn in "Try and Get It" concludes today at the Glendale theatre. Sunday, Monday and Tuesday the picture is "Love and Glory," a Rupert Julian production.

THE T. D. & L.

Rupert Hughes production "Excuse Me" concludes today at the T. D. & L. theatre. Sunday, Monday and Tuesday the feature is Mrs. Wallace Reid in "Broken Laws."

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S TOOTHBRUSH

Gnashing his teeth, the Fuzzy Fox sat in the den of the Bob Cat and growled.

"What's the matter?" asked the Bob Cat.

"Oh, I'm so angry I could bite my own tail!" growled the Fox.

"Angry at what?" asked the Bob Cat.

"At Uncle Wiggily," went on the Fox. "I never seem to be able to catch that rabbit and nibble his ears. I've tried all sorts of tricks and sharpened my teeth, but never yet have I nibbled his ears."

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the Bob Cat.

"What's so funny?" the Fox wanted to know, suspicious-like.

"I just happened to think of something the Skillery Scallery Aligator told me about that rabbit," said the Bob Cat. "Yesterday Uncle Wiggily pretended to be a dentist, with a buttonhook, and said he was going to pull out the 'Gator's teeth. The 'Gator ran away, but what do you think he saw afterward?"

"Did he see a real dentist?" asked the Fox.

"No, but he happened to be passing Uncle Wiggily's bungalow, and up in the bathroom the 'Gator saw the rabbit scrubbing his teeth with a brush. Did you ever hear of such a thing as cleaning your teeth?"

"I never did," said the Fox. "I sharpen mine so I can bite better, but I never clean them."

"Nor I," snickered the Bob Cat. "It's silly, I say!"

"Still it gives me an idea," said the Fox. "You say Uncle Wiggily goes up in the bath room to clean his teeth. Now while he does that he must lean over the wash basin. Very well, when he is leaning over, cleaning his teeth he can't see very well. So I'm going to climb up the old ivy vine outside his bath room window and catch him."

"Maybe you will, and maybe you won't," said the Bob Cat, non-committal like.

"Anyhow, I'm going to try," said the Fox, and off he started for the bunny's hollow stump bungalow.

Just about that time Uncle Wiggily, as was his habit, went up to clean his teeth. He took the brush, wet it and on it put some nice tooth paste, which had clean soap in it, for one thing.

"Mistletoe and a holly wreath! It's jolly fun to clean your teeth!"

Thus sang Uncle Wiggily. But all of a sudden, his paw slipped, rubbed against his brush and a lot of the soapy tooth paste went in his eye.

"O yoi! yoi! Not so good!" laughed the bunny, wiping his eye on a towel. "I must be more careful."

So he put more tooth paste on his brush, and was just going to clean his teeth when, all of a sudden, up the ivy vine outside the window climbed the Fox.

"Ha! Ha! This is the time I have you!" snarled the bad chap. "I have sharpened my teeth, all ready to nibble your ears!"

"Oh, ho!" cried the bunny. "You may have sharpened your teeth, but it is more polite to clean them. And, since you have not done it yourself, I'll have to do it for you."

With that Uncle Wiggily aimed his brush at the Fox. The bunny drew his paw over the stiff bristles. Out shot a lot of the soapy tooth paste, right in the eyes of the Fox. And the soap smarted his eyes greatly.

"Oh, wow! Oh, yoi! yoi!!" howled the Fox, and he fell backward off the ivy vine, all the way to the ground and bumped his head until he saw stars in the daytime.

"Ha, Ha!" laughed the bunny, looking out of the window.

"Fooled again! The Bob Cat will say 'I told you so!'" barked the Fox, limping off to the woods.

Then the bunny finished cleaning his teeth. And if potato pie doesn't trip the teapot up when it's trying to pour coffee down the back of the chair, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily blowing a horn.

Availability of Christian Science Is Explained By R. J. Davis

tion, emulation, mad ambition, and "man's inhumanity to man"? Is it not envy—the serpent of hate and jealousy? The gospel of Christian Science to-day is available to destroy this lie that has eaten its bitter way into the heart of mankind. Christian Science shows us that envy has its foundation in the belief or fear their fellow-man possesses some good, some blessing which we are denied and which we greatly desire. Christian Science declares that envy is a baseless fear. Are we really denied? Do we lack any good thing? In the light of Truth we see that man, God's image and likeness, today has all good, if he will only claim it, the infinity of supply, substance, opportunity, talent, happiness! What does it mean? Infinitely manifested there is enough of good, of God, for all, for every man. Each may legitimately claim all that he needs and rightly desires, and yet his brothers too may partake of Love's immeasurable bounty. Each one finds his proper place and proper relationship to all of God's little ones. Who ever conceived of the great oak vying with the stately pine, or the rose with the lily? Side by side, each fills its purpose in God's divine plan. There is no envy there, and in our daily life every fine achievement, every success of our brother's, can make us rejoice, because more of God's glory has been revealed, and we know that same possibility exists for us. There is enough for all.

FEAR DESTROYED

No Pharaoh of Egypt held the children of Israel in greater bondage than to-day is exacted of humanity by the taskmaster, fear. Men are afraid to eat, and afraid not to eat. If business is good they are afraid it will be bad, and if it is bad they are afraid it will be worse, afraid if the weather is hot, afraid if it is cold. Indeed, fear is usually present in some form at all occasions. What is this tyrant, fear? Is it real and God-provided? Has the all-loving creator of the universe put into the heart of man these thoughts of timidity, apprehension, and misgiving? No, not one of them. "God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind." The world is coming to see how available are the teachings of Christian Science that God is Love and the only Mind governing man. Now this understanding enables us to recognize and cast out fear. It shows us that fear comes into thought primarily as a temptation to acknowledge and bow down before a power other than the one God. We are asked to admit the existence of an evil entity which has the ability to incapacitate, terrify, and destroy the children of God. Spiritual reason tells us that all this is not the product of an infinitely good God, and indeed God would not be infinite if evil and its offspring, fear, are self-constituted and eternal realities.

Discouraged and disheartened in the struggle with life's problems, it would seem as though man's ability to cope with difficulties and to resist them had so weakened that at the very first onslaught of the enemy he gave up without an effort. We are told in the Scriptures that if we resist the devil, evil, he will flee from us, and Mrs. Eddy in Christian Science has shown the world how to stand courageously and resist evil and fear. On page 393 of Science and Health she says, "Rise in the strength of Spirit to resist all that is unlike good. God has made man capable of this, and nothing can vitiate the ability and power divinely bestowed on man." Christian Science in its teaching that all is Mind and its infinite manifestation shows us that fear always makes its appearance as our thinking, as some kind of thought. It claims to be part of our own thinking, our consciousness. The realization that all true thoughts have their origin in God enables us to separate these fear thoughts from ourselves and from the divine Mind, to see them only as illusions, as false beliefs without basis or cause in Truth. This perception that fear and erroneous beliefs are not real nor of God gives man courage and power to meet and resist all difficulties. We learn how to study and scrutinize the guests seeking admission to our mental homes and to bar the door when fear and its companion beliefs, timidity, anxiety, and worry, present themselves. Fear is no part of the divine Mind or Mind's creation. It has no cause in God and God never made it. It is therefore without law or Principle. "There is no fear in love;" says John, "but perfect love casteth out fear."

AVAILABILITY OF LOVE

The right understanding and reflection of Love not only destroys fear but develops in man the true spirit of the Christ. In Science and Health (p. 113), we read, "The vital part, the heart and soul of Christian Science, is Love. Without this, the letter is but the dead body of Science,—pulseless, cold, inanimate." How the world is reaching out for an available understanding of God as Love, love that is not of the earth or sentimental but that spirit of divinity, of tenderness, compassion, mercy which will touch the sorrowing heart of humanity and heal its wounds. The world is full of unloved and unloving people, men and women upon whom the blight of false belief has fallen. Environment, fear, a childhood devoid of love and joy, perhaps the afflictive beliefs of ancestry,—all untrue and not ordained of God,—these conditions have hardened and steeled their hearts, so that Love may not come in. To such as these comes the joyous truth that God is the only Father-Mother of man, a God who loves His own, cherishing, protecting, and sustaining them. Christian Science shows us that as we learn to reflect the Father-Mother Love, infinite gentleness, goodness, and tenderness, these qualities of thought become active in our lives. Resentment, self-pity, and cruelty fade away, the scars disappear and the real man appears, happy, joyous, and free as God made him.

Some years ago, a friend of mine, a professor in a middle western college, was visiting a state agricultural school. In showing him around the institution the superintendent led him up to the stall of an enormous black bull. The bull looked dangerous and the professor drew back, but the superintendent said, "Don't be afraid, go right up and put your hand on him. He won't hurt you, he is perfectly gentle." Reassured, my friend placed his hand on the animal. As he did so, the superintendent said, "Do you notice anything unusual about that bull?" My friend, not being very well informed about the subject, said he did not. "Well," said the superintendent, "that animal's hide is as soft and silky as sealskin. When he came to us he was a wild, untamed thing, ugly and ferocious, with hair hard and bristling. Love changed all that, for I want to tell you that I have found in my experience with animals that with kind and loving treatment their hide and fur soften and respond at once to the mental condition of those who care for them." What a lesson for us—the operation of practical, available Love! By constant reflection and manifestation of love in daily contact with our fellow-men, the hard and bristly exterior of many an unhappy man or woman may be softened, his whole disposition altered, and in its place will appear the real man, God's loving child.

Have you ever seen a group of children playing with what are known as false faces? They come running towards you with these distorted masks, some of them animal in aspect and all very ugly, and try to frighten you. What do you do? You smile and go on undisturbed, because you know that behind the mask is the sweet, happy face of a child. The world is full of children wearing false faces, evil masks of hate, envy, and revenge. They would frighten us, make us angry or disturbed, but the understanding of man in Christian Science shows us how to look behind the mask, this false face, and see God's perfect child—the Son of God. It was Jesus' perception of the real man as the image of Love that enabled him to see through the mask of hate, revenge, and bigotry and say, even of those who were crucifying him, "Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do."

The understanding that God is infinite, omnipresent Love is an ever-available help. It is the "peace, be still" to error of every kind. In the Bible we read how the men of God, those who were turning to God, were guided and protected by the angels. What were these angels? Christian Science shows us that the angels of His presence are not spiritualized human beings with wings, but pure holy thoughts coming from God to man. It is related in the book of Kings that Elijah, the prophet of the Lord, pursued by Jezebel and the worshipers of Baal, fled into the wilderness. Tired and discouraged, he sat down under a juniper tree, and as he lay and slept, behold an angel touched him and told him to arise and eat. And when he looked there was food and water at hand. Lying down again to sleep, the angel touched him a second time, and he again was fed and sustained, so that he traveled many days in strength, coming at last to a cave. And there, the Scriptures say, "the Lord passed by, and a great and strong wind rent the mountains, and brake in pieces the rocks before the Lord; but the Lord was not in the wind: and after the wind an earthquake; but the Lord was not in the earthquake; and after the earthquake a fire; but the Lord was not in the fire: and after the fire a still small voice"—the voice of God, of Love, which speaks to every man in pure divine ideas, thoughts, which deliver us from fear and the belief that evil is real or has power. These are the angels of our deliverance, the angelic host, ever present and available, if we will but heed. Perhaps there is no more beautiful angel reminder of God's everpresent and available love than the words of the following hymn, with which I will close:

"In Thee, O Spirit, true and tender,
I find my Life, as God's own child;
Within Thy Light of glorious splendor,
I lose the earth-clouds, drear and wild.

"Within Thy Love is safe abiding,
From every thought that giveth fear;
Within Thy Truth a perfect chiding,
Should I forget that Thou art near.

"In Thee, I have no pain or sorrow,
No anxious thought, no load of care.
Thou art the same to-day, to-morrow;
Thy Love and Truth are everywhere."

(Christian Science Hymnal, No. 187.)

118 WILSON PUPILS RECEIVE DIPLOMAS

Intermediate School Holds Graduation Exercises For Mid-Winter

Members of the graduating class at the Wilson Intermediate school received their certificates at graduation exercises at the school auditorium last night. One hundred and eighteen members of the eighth grade classes under Miss Lois Hanna, Miss Lucretia Potter and Miss Helen Gould, class teachers, were issued their certificates from the hands of Mrs. A. A. Barton, president of the board of education. Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools, addressed the graduates, complimenting them on their achievement in completing the prescribed course of study successfully.

Musical selections were given by the school orchestra, girls' and boys' glee clubs, instrumental quartet composed of Mary Ann Fleming, Betty Sinclair, Eugene Haflinger and Grant Laughlin, and a double vocal trio including Madoline Ruth Finkbeiner, Irene Ewald, Audrey Drake, Mary Ann Fleming, Marie McSpadden and Alice Fuelscher. LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—A bond issue to build two bridges across the Los Angeles river—one at Glendale boulevard and the other at Fletcher drive, is urged of the City Council by the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce. The request has been referred to City Engineer Van Norman.

Train service accidents of the Pacific Electric railroad during 1924 showed a reduction of 13.88 per cent over the year previous, it was revealed in a statement issued today by D. W. Pontius, general manager of the company. Rolling stock of the company traveled more than 3,500,000 miles more than during 1923.

The will of the late Mary P. Russell which failed to mention her adopted son, but provided for life long care of her pet dog will be contested by Clarence A. Russell, the son, in a suit filed in probate court. Mrs. Russell died January 1, leaving a $10,000 estate but cut her son off partly because he had not been kind to "Ted," the pet dog.

Albert A. Mors, administrator of the estate of Mrs. Teresa Mors, his wife, who was slain recently, has lost his first legal step to gain possession of the motion picture film "Kidding Kid McCoy." A demurrer to his complaint was sustained and he was given ten days to file an amended complaint.

A fine of $500 and thirty days in jail was meted out to Mohammed Ortaay, self-styled "master of the temple of Mohammed," in Hollywood, for violation of the fortune telling ordinance. Counsel for Ortaay gave notice of appeal when his request for a new trial was refused.

operators who are trying to do a legitimate business."

Favoring the amendment, one Los Angeles firm writes: "We think the amendment proposed by Mr. Keiser a good one and we favor the adoption of the same." Another large firm with many branch offices in Los Angeles and elsewhere, writes: "In the abstract the proposed amendment is good. In the matter of soundness of title we believe this should go so far as to preclude any individual personally issuing a contract of sale on a subdivision which is encumbered by a mortgage. Suffice to say, however, that the buying public should be absolutely protected, in their assurance of receiving title after they have fully performed."

Two of the letters received by the state association came from veteran realtors who have served as president of the Los Angeles realty board.

A large Pasadena firm of realtors is in sympathy with the real estate commissioner's desire to protect purchases in any new subdivision as to title and financing but objects to giving the commissioner jurisdiction over the planning of streets and general layout of property, stating that this feature is covered by the county authorities. This Pasadena firm opposes the amendment's adoption for the reason that "responsible men in authority having control over these matters, are so busy with large enterprises, that they delegate the authority over individual subdivisions to some minor clerk to pass upon, with the result that the men who are best able to pass upon these matters do not give them the proper consideration."

The state association chairman declares that enactment of this amendment would require one-fourth to one-third of the department revenues to enforce it.

Many Subdivisions

Counties reporting the number of subdivisions filed 1922-24 are as follows: Tulare, 49; San Bernardino, 349; Los Angeles, 3760; Ventura, 67; Orange, 407; Madera, 31; Santa Clara, 62.

Distribution of pamphlets on real estate by the department is endorsed by the Sacramento Real Estate Board and State Association.

The San Francisco Real Estate Board through its secretary Leslie E. Burks called upon the State Legislative committee to co-operate in the passage of an amendment to CCP 1559 providing for division of commissions in probate sales equally between the broker representing the original bidder and the broker representing the successful bidder. The State association has approved and is co-operating with the San Francisco board.

The amendment desired by the San Joaquin Valley Realtors' association providing for $7500 salary and increased pay to state department deputies has been approved by the state association legislative committee.

Senate bill by Sample of San Diego, authorizing owners to withdraw lands from the Torrens land registration system and their restoration to the recording system of real property has been approved by the association committee.

Mortgage Loan Bureau

The Sacramento Real Estate board has called upon the State association to investigate the bill by Assemblyman Spalding and Senator Jones providing for the creation of a mortgage loan bureau by which all mortgage loan companies would be placed under jurisdiction of the state corporation commissioner and required to put up $25,000 securities with the state. Another measure brought to the attention of the committee is assembly bill No. 119 providing for nine months redemption of property that has been sold under deed of trust.

The final session of the Legislature will convene February 24 by which time the State association will have made an exhaustive survey of all bills affecting real estate and will present the same to its boards and members.

Skeleton bills covering the real estate license law have been introduced by Eksward in the assembly and by Senator Breed in the upper house. Chairman Freeman H. Bloodgood, Trust building, Santa Ana, has issued an appeal to all boards and realtors to send communications on legislature direct to the State association.

counting on increased automobile production to use up large parts of the excess gasoline stocks, but is taking cognizance of the development and increased popularity of airplane travel. William B. Stout, airplane manufacturer and automotive engineer, declares Detroit has entered the aircraft industry in earnest, and with a policy involving standardization of a suitable type of plane which can be produced on a quantity basis and sold at a quantity basis price.

Such a plane, he added, must carry not less than one ton at a cruising speed of 100 miles an hour and must be able to fly a minimum of four hours each day and eventually remain aloft for 20 hours. Every pound of cargo which can be transported by airplane would mean a revenue of 7c. an hour for each hour in the air, provided a six-hour flying day could be maintained, he asserted.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Hats off to the sporting fraternity. The satellites of the squared ring can provide more page one news than the learned professors of our universities, it would appear in the papers.

But there is more human interest in the advices from Nome, Alaska, where its populace is living in fear of spreading diphtheria and dog sleds are mushing over the frozen plain with antitoxin serum.

You read of this race with death, perhaps, with little or no personal interest, but there are people in Glendale who have lived in Nome who ARE interested.

That is the way of California. If The Glendale Evening News were to carry a line or two about Baraboo, Wis., or Jericho, Vt., or Clay Center, Mo., there would be some member of the great family of readers who would have personal acquaintances with the town and its people.

Californians come from everywhere, and not, as many say, from Iowa, mostly. True, we have many Iowans, but that state doesn't size up to New York or Illinois or Indiana in providing populace for the Southland.

One thing is true, however, people boast of having come from Iowa. Whereas Chicagoans and New York City commuters to the coast say little or nothing about their old home states.

The California Development association has been in session in Los Angeles devising ways and means for advertising the whole state of California.

It is reported that the railroads are ready to spend millions of dollars in a campaign of publicity, and by uniting all of these efforts there is no reason why five million additional population should not be added before the 1930 census is taken.

All of these people cannot be accommodated just yet in Southern California. Half of that number would find it difficult to make a living in northern California. But by spreading them over the whole state and developing our agricultural, mineral and commercial resources there is no reason why five million and more cannot be absorbed.

To aid in this work of development the California Real Estate association has a bill before the Legislature asking that a bureau of statistics and research be added to the State Real Estate department.

Another bill provides for dissemination of authentic information by the real estate commissioner, and provides a fund for the publication of pamphlets.

California cannot do ENOUGH of this kind of work.

DYNAMITERS WIN FROM MONROVIA

Foothillers Held to Single Basket In First Half; Final Score, 33-18

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, Jr.
Of The Evening News Staff.

Coach "Apollo" Pierce's hardwood five made itself a real contender for the Central league basketball championship when it gave the highly-touted Monrovia quintet a stinging defeat yesterday in the local gym with a 33 to 18 score. During the first two quarters the Foothillers never had a lookin. Of the eighteen scores made during the first half only two were accounted for by the visitors.

The Glendale forwards, Elliott, Bradbury and Beaman started the game and played the first quarter, bringing in eight points for Glendale. In the second quarter a new trio, Stearman, Hardy and Jensen was sent in and it also registered eight points. In the meantime the Monrovia boys got ambitious and tossed one basket.

During the first quarter Beaman was the outstanding star, he and Carl Denney doing practically the whole of the shooting. In the second quarter Stearman, Jensen and Hardy all played on about the same level and ran each other close for point honors. "Huli" Jensen helped swell the Glendale score by batting baskets when the ball hit the ring or backboard and failed to go in.

Better in Third

In the third quarter the Foothillers got some life into their playing and made the game something a little more worth seeing. The two teams ran side by side for the most part of the quarter and at the three-fourths mark the Glendalians had chucked just one more point than the visitors. Again Beaman led his teammates for the high-point honors, but this time by a much smaller margin.

The Monrovia boys tried hard in the fourth quarter but after leading now and then, finished that period with as many points as Glendale. Collins, Monrovia forward, was the individual star for the losers, getting a total of 13 or more points than anyone in the game, including Beaman of Glendale. Collins frequently got the ball in the center of the court and would either dribble down or park under the basket for a fast throw from one of the guards and toss the basket. During the last half Collins had the Glendale guards worried and had he started his rushing earlier in the game he might have pulled Monrovia into a better position at the finish.

The lineup:

Glendale—		Monrovia—
(3) Elliott	R.F.L.	Collins (13)
(1) Bradbury	L.F.R.	Hoffland (4)
(10) Beaman	C.	Wilson (0)
(7) Denney	R.G.L.	Wiley (3)

Monrovia	0	2	8	8	18

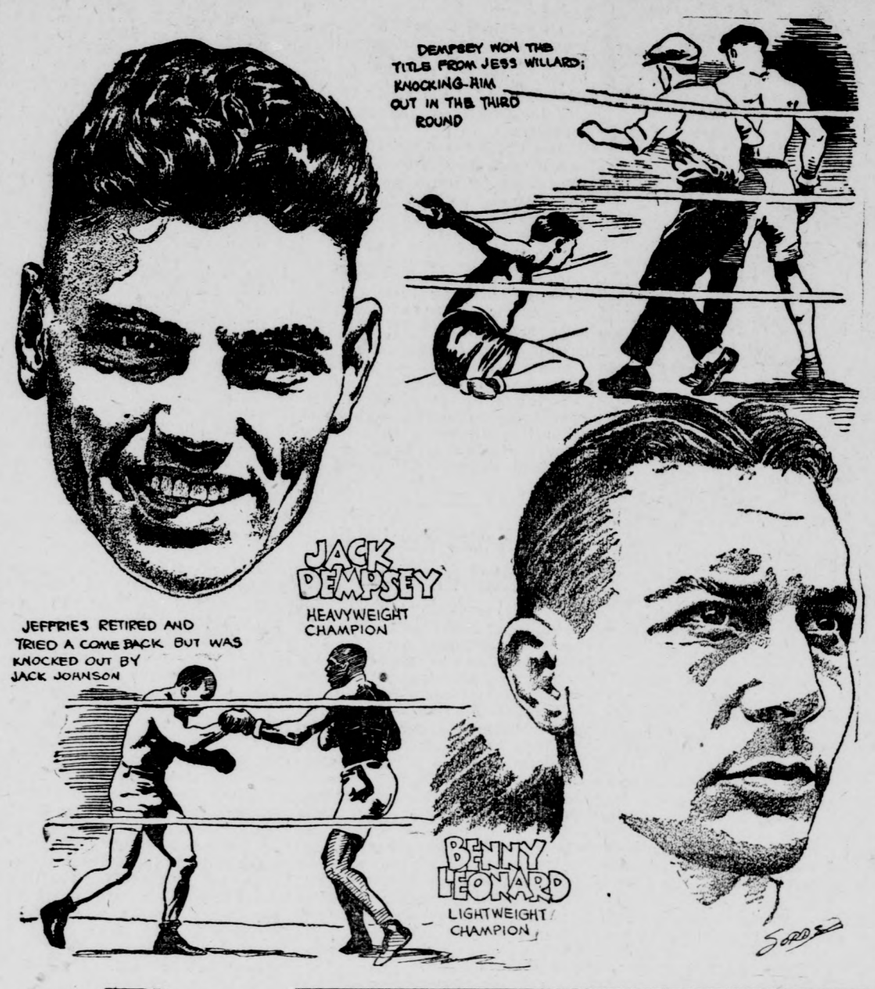
When Champions Retire

JACK DEMPSEY, heavyweight champion of the world, and BENNY LEONARD, lightweight titleholder, are stepping out of the ring at an age when many of the old-time fighters were just getting good. Both men are under 30 years old.



DEMPSEY WON THE TITLE FROM JESS WILLARD; KNOCKING HIM OUT IN THE THIRD ROUND
JACK DEMPSEY
HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION
JEFFRIES RETIRED AND TRIED A COME BACK, BUT WAS KNOCKED OUT BY JACK JOHNSON
BENNY LEONARD
LIGHTWEIGHT CHAMPION

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Written for The Evening News

Jack Dempsey and Benny Leonard, champion of the heavyweight and lightweight division respectively and the only really great champions of the present day, have announced their retirement.

The announcement can, of course, be taken with a grain of salt.

But, accepting the statements as serious, the situation thereby presented, is an odd one.

According to their life histories both men are just 29—one year shy of the 30 mark. And here they are stepping out of active life as far as their accepted vocation is concerned into retirement.

The situation is an unheard of one.

Consider Dempsey's case.

The world's heavyweight champion steps out at the age when many of his predecessors were in their busiest days. Why, Bob Fitzsimmons was six years older than Dempsey when he won the heavyweight crown from Jim Corbett. He held the title two years, losing it in 1899 to Jim Jeffries in eleven rounds of rip-snorting fighting at Coney Island.

Fitz was forty when he met Jeffries again in San Francisco and for six rounds threatened to regain the sky-piece he had lost three years previously.

At 41 he was still fighting. Records show that he gave George Gardner a real licking in Frisco when on the road to forty-two.

The freckled one was at the ripe old pugilistic age of 43 when he finally relinquished his second title, that of light heavyweight champion, to Philadelphia Jack O'Brien. For thirteen rounds Fitz fought O'Brien to a draw. Then his strength gave out. Call Fitzsimmons' case an exception if you will. Take that of Sullivan. The great old mauler was five years older than Dempsey now is when Corbett showed him that science could win over brute strength.

Jack Johnson, cleverest of the black fighters of modern times at least, tackled Jim Jeffries when the latter was thirty-five. Johnson, himself, was 37 when Jess Willard, old as champions go, stepped into the ring to batter the dissipated black man down.

Kid McCoy was a busy, willing fighter at 38.

The list of lightweight champions contain several men who fought long after the 35 mark.

Frank Erne was fighting at 33. Leach Cross was still in the game at 37. Joe Gans was 34 when he stepped out—and he had fought several battles to Leonard's one.

Other divisions contain men who fought long after the 30-year mark. Stanley Ketchell was going good at 33. George Dixon, greatest of featherweights, was in the ring at 36.

Kid Lavigne was boxing exhibitions at 41.

On the other hand, however, many men ended their days in want—their money gone—or found themselves burned out and worthless as a result of repeated beatings in the ring.

Dempsey and Leonard may be selfish in deserting the ring in their prime. But no one can blame them for wanting to dodge the fate of those who gave their all to the ring—and died young or wandered down through their remaining years handicapped as a result of the pommelings or injuries, physical or mental, they received from padded mitts.

SPORT CHATTER

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—With long-distance skepticism prevailing here on the matter of Jack Dempsey's announced retirement from affairs of the fist comes a report today that would seem to bear out the good faith of the champion's statement.

The report is to the effect that Jack Kearns is soon to take over the management of Mickey Walker, world's welterweight champion, and it comes from sources of some little probity.

Walker would neither deny nor confirm the report today but the fact is generally known that a deal between Jack and Mickey has been hanging fire for some time. It has been held in abeyance because of Walker's objection to playing piccola accompaniments when he might be the bull fiddle under a more obscure management. The objection would be removed automatically if Dempsey severs relations with Kearns and duly retires, as advertised.

With the withdrawal of Benny Leonard and the announced intention of Dempsey to do likewise, Walker remains as the most notable of the ring champions of today. The fact that Kearns is ready to do business with him indicates pretty strongly that the well-known collector of rare and well-done coins is casting about for an unpunched meal ticket; that in short, Kearns is inclined to take Dempsey's announcement seriously.

Kearns, of course, has tried to laugh this idea out of countenance. So has Tex Rickard. Both have become rich men through Dempsey's flair for punching retired piano movers in the rotunda, and they had high hopes for the future.

They are natural skeptics on the subject of Dempsey's retirement. But the writer learned months ago that Dempsey planned to withdraw from the ring and the champion's continued affirmations since then have not been without the ring of sincerity. As matters now stand, he means every word he says, and if he goes through with it, the sport of boxing will lose a heavyweight champion and Mr. Kearns will be without a meal ticket.

His next best bet would be Walker. The latter leaves within a few days for the coast where he will take on Bert Colima at Los Angeles on February 24. According to the good word, his business with Kearns will be settled then.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Track experts are still talking about Willie Ritola's record breaking run at the Brooklyn College A. A. games on Saturday night and efforts are being made to have him reconsider his determination to rest upon his laurels the remainder of the winter.

Ritola says he has not the time to train that is required of a runner who tries to make the big winter meets. In other words he has to work for a living. Nurmi seems to be better situated in this respect.

When Willie made his poor showing in the five thousand meter race at the Garden on January 6 track followers were nonplussed. It was all the more extraordinary in view of the fact that when Willie and Paavo met in the five thousand meter race at the Paris Olympics Nurmi won by about a yard.

As a consequence there were not a few who thought that Ritola's experience in indoor running, coupled with Nurmi's inexperience, would enable the American-trained Finn to turn the tables on the visitor. But, quite the contrary, the Phantom Finn gave Willie the worst beating of his career.

It looked as though Ritola had shot his bolt and everybody was set to sing a long, low requiem—in fact requiems were heard in some quarters—when up bobs Willie and breaks five records including some of Nurmi's, one of Kohlemainen's and one of his own. Pretty good for a has-been.

An English sporting authority states that America's supremacy in the dashes and field events is easily explained on the ground of the well organized and vociferous rooting of American spectators.

The fact that the U. S. A. has not done so well in long distance races he ascribes to the fact that Americans cannot yell more than two minutes at a time.

While the yelling is in progress, asserts the English scribe, Americans always lead, but they fall behind when the rooters lose their voices because of hoarseness. Like most reasoning there is a flaw to be found in the Briton's logic; it relates to the clean sweep which the Yale crew made in Europe.

Gibbons Knocks Out Herman In Detroit

DETROIT, Jan. 31.—Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul, pounded "Tiny" Herman into submission in the third round of their scheduled ten-round bout last night. "Tiny" looked good in the first round when he held Gibbons practically even, but Gibbons' marksmanship was too true in the second and third rounds. Billy Peterson knocked out Nate Lewis in the second.

Trade disputes in England last year caused a loss of nearly 1,000,000 working days.

CASEYS TO PLAY ALHAMBRA HERE

Open Second Half of Season Tomorrow; Dan O'Leary To Appear Also

Two strong attractions are offered baseball fans for tomorrow afternoon at the ball park on San Fernando road, when the Glendale Caseys and the Alhambra council team open the second half of the Southern California K. C. league schedule, and Dan O'Leary, walking champion of the world, will put on an exhibition.

The local Caseys finished at the top of the list during the first half of the season, without a defeat, and they are out to make it a clean record for the entire season. By virtue of their winning ways during the early part of the season, they will travel north to meet Oakland for the state title.

O'Donnell, a new addition to the Casey aggregation, will be on the mound for the locals. "Chief" Butler, who hurled the team to victory on many occasions, has accepted an offer to play with Phoenix in the Copper league and is now in Arizona. Myers will be behind the bat with Cozington, Harry Manush, the three Doll brothers and others in their regular positions.

O'Leary Will Walk

Dan O'Leary, who is 84 years old, but still able to cover more distance in heel and toe walking than any other man claims to be able to do, will circle the bases twelve times in ten minutes, as an added attraction. This exhibition is worth miles to see as Dan is poetry in motion.

To circle the bases twelve times in ten minutes means that Dan will have to make each circuit in not more than 50 seconds. In a recent exhibition at the local park, Dan cut the time to 9:42 3-5, and he is confident he can lower this mark tomorrow.

Arrangements are being made for temporary seats at the ball park so fans will not have to stand up during the entire game. Since the grandstand burned several weeks ago, fans who have attended Sunday games have found standing a task. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock.

Nurmi Races Tonight In Boston A. C. Meet

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—Paavo Nurmi, the Finnish runner, marvel, was en route to Boston from New York today, ready to take part in the two-mile event at the indoor track meet of the Boston Athletic association tonight. Nurmi was nursing a slight cold but it is not serious enough to keep him out of the games tonight.

Nurmi was up against Gunnar Nilson, who defeated him with a 100-yard handicap in a 2,000 meter race at the Brooklyn college meet a week ago. Ilmer Prim and August Fager, members of the Finnish-American Athletic club of New York, and Joie Ray of Chicago, will run.

Championship Decided In Wilson Class Meet

Members of the boys' basketball team of B7-2 won the interclass championship at Wilson Intermediate school of the term just completed. Nine games were played in the schedule and they were defeated but once. Members of the team were: Gilbert Germain, captain; Oliver Lingo, William Hunrath, Edward Mittry, Charles Roach, Cornelius Brownwood. This is the first B7 team to win in a class schedule this term.

BASEBALL

While the Glendale Caseys and Dan O'Leary are holding the center of the stage here tomorrow afternoon, the Glendale letter carriers will be invading Van Nuys. The mailmen have been putting up a strong argument for baseball supremacy among local teams. "Happy" Richards will be on the mound for the mailmen, with Whitney behind the bat.

The Hollywood Merchants and Tom Kennedy's All-Stars are booked for a game tomorrow afternoon at Hollywood. It will be a benefit affair, the gate receipts going to Fred Stanton, former baseball player, who is seriously ill. Many movie stars will play on Tom Kennedy's team.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The St. Louis Nationals will be the first big league club to get under way for spring training quarters under present plans. The Cards will be out in the valley around Stockton, Calif., long before some of the other clubs have packed their grips for the camps of sore muscles and sore heads.

By the time most of the teams are assembling at their training quarters, the Cards will already have played a game in California, unless tentative plans are called off. With Rogers Hornsby as an attraction, the Cards plan to give exhibitions throughout the Golden State to pay for the cakes and steaks that will be devoured by the hungry athletes.

The exhibition series will be practically a continuous performance. They are going to exhibit so much that probably it will be a combined exhibition and training jaunt instead of simply a training camp. Branch Rickey is not taking his players to California solely for the training, nor even for the scenery. He figures that with the league's champion batter to exhibit, he will have a strong attraction for the far westerners who never have seen the lanky Texan, Hornsby, play second and hit liners to the right field fences.

The Cards have many players on their list and Rickey will have the same task on his hands in picking a team that he had at Bradentown, Florida, where doping out a lineup proved more complicated than solving cross word puzzles.

Perhaps the best bargain Rickey has picked up is Mails, the left handed pitcher from Oakland. He got Mails on mighty easy terms, as Cal Ewing of the Oakland club found to his cost. After swapping Mails for a few St. Louis players, Ewing came east to the baseball meeting and found that he could have got more from any one of three or four clubs.

Of course there is a lot of speculation in Mails. He is one of those mystery left handers who never breaks out twice with the same kind of record and the man who holds him is never sure whether he has got a comet by the tail or merely has hold of the wrong end of a tallow dip. When Mails joined the Cleveland club in 1920, he not only did a lot toward pitching the Indians into its first American league championship, but he did a lot toward pitching Brooklyn out of a world's title.

The next year, Mails led one of those painfully eccentric careers for which lefthanders have been noted ever since they began chucking the ball with their sinister arms.

In 1924, Mails won twenty-four games and lost twenty-two for Oakland. Every scout who went to California reported that Mails looked as if he were coming back again. Hickey gathered him in while some of the other managers were thinking it over. If Mails makes good, Rickey figures that he has got some one to replace Salee, who was traded to the Giants and left a gap hard to fill.

The fact that the Cards will have played one-fifth of a season before they open the big show in St. Louis does not seem to worry Rickey any. He thinks there is nothing better for the player than a steady diet of work.

Award Scholarships To Glendale Students

Awards in scholarship and presentation of letters won in athletics were leading features of the assembly held at Glendale Intermediate school. Another important event was the report from the constitutional committee that the new constitution had been ratified by the associated students with a vote of 332 to 46.

Letters won by boys of the school during the term just closed, were presented by Amer Petty, of physical training classes, and the girls' letters were presented by Miss Dorothy Meisner. The graduation program was presented and the scholarships for honor grades were awarded as follows: Eighth grade, Bobby Hollingsworth, Dorothey Erskine, Betty Biggs, Ruth Houle, Varian Sloan, Inez Boyd, Mildred Allen, Ruth Kreinbring, Marjorie Packard, Virginia Wymore, Helen Rosenberg, Margaret Baum, Frederick Dundas, Theodore Hirsch, Frank Howe, Doris Pade, Genevieve Gannon, Alice Hitchcock, Edna May Marxmiller. Seventh grade, Virgil Davis, Martha Warfield, Beatrice Guenther, Doris Stamps, Minaru Yamamato, Julian Zuniga, Carol Smith, Gertrude Sprenger, Marjorie Sudlow, Louise Hill, Rosemary Gilhuly, Dorothy Gardner, Frances Dundas, Sanders Russell, B. J. Ruyle, Takeo Hirassima, Geraldine Baughman, Pauline Scovern, Anna Louise Muhlman.

SPORTDOM ALL OVER

By JOSEPH L. KELLEY
Of The Evening News Staff.

Jack Dempsey retires to wed Estelle Taylor; Miss Taylor wants babies; so does Marchioness Gloria Swanson de la Flaise; Benny Leonard retires; Johnny Dundee, the bouncing "wop," returns to America, demanding his featherweight title back, saying he was only foolin' when he gave it away; Fred Fulton pleads guilty to conspiracy to defraud California boxing law out of a "flop" on the canvas and is fined $500; Tony Fuente, the Mexican jumping bean champion of other side of Rio Grande, follows Fred, his plea as yet a dark secret; ditto, "Windy" Windsor, boss of Culver City's dancing emporium; Mary Miles Mnter sues her mother for money she claims due her as her own and not her mother's; Senate slaps "Silent Cal" policy of postal increase by cutting in half the surcharge on parcels post.

Joseph L. Kelley

Lots of things popping in sporting, social, fillums and public circles. Like chorus girl the general theme seems to be "gimmie"—gimmie babies and gimmie money and gimmie back my titles is heard on all sides.

Lawmakers up in Sacramento just finished greatest "gimmie" session in history of California since the gold rush. Motorists are addressed in three-quarters of the "gimmie" debates. Things aren't tough enough for the boys buying cars now. Lawmakers hint these weekly, monthly and payments-when-you're-caught details are mere trifles in life of motorists.

Jack Dempsey wants Estelle and Estelle wants Jack. That seems to be fair enough. Estelle wants babies. That's reasonable. But when Jack insists upon giving Jack Kearns the "air"—that's unreasonable. It's a shame to make Jack Kearns go to work for a change.

Jack admits he and Kearns have never been really friends. He lauds Kearns' ability as a fight manager and lets the compliments drop right there. Jack hints that Kearns would much rather he (Dempsey) would not take unto himself a wife. Dempsey thinks differently. Seems that Dempsey finally has found out he has a will of his own and that his judgment can compete favorably with Kearns'.

A man's happiness apparently means about as much to Jack Kearns as his last year's straw hat. Another man's happiness doesn't mean a 70-30 or 60-40 split at the gate. A wife interferes with these half-million dollar purses in which the fighter's manager figures a good percentage.

Of the two figures in boxing circles for several years back, Jack Dempsey, by his decision, has proved to be by far the cleverest, despite Dempsey's high compliment paid Kearns for his managerial ability.

Dempsey concludes that he's had his share of boxing honors and boxing purses. He has invested well. Although by far the most unpopular heavyweight champion since Jack Johnson released the crown, Dempsey hasn't been the most popular spendthrift.

Dempsey has found a woman he loves and who loves him. Why shouldn't they marry? More power to you, Jack Dempsey—, you won your greatest victory when you disagreed with your manager.

Mary Miles Minter hits the front pages again. What a shock to the millions of fans who once adored Mary as the sweet, little sixteen-year-old star of the fillums. What a blot on anyone's reputation to be carried over the front pages of the country's dailies as suing one's mother—especially a sweet, little fillum star.

Mary has forgotten that it was her mother who, single-handed, promoted one of the biggest starring contracts in the history of the screen. She has forgotten the day, about six years back, when, with that same mother she is now dragging into the courts over mere money, led "Sweet Sixteen" into the Fifth avenue offices of Adolph Zukor and made it possible for "Sweet Sixteen" to draw a salary unheard of before that time for an ingenue star.

All that Mary Miles Minter was to the screen—and in terms of popularity and success that was a whole lot—her mother made her.

With Mary Pickford's mother, Mary Miles Minter's mother proved herself one of the keenest business women ever to champion a girl star of the screen. And now the courts and their heartless probing into privacies is the reward.

CORNHUSKERS AND JAYHAWKERS MEET

Missouri Valley Conference Title In Basketball at Stake Tonight

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 31.—The basketball game here tonight between the Kansas Jayhawkers and the University of Nebraska, the latter tied with Washington university of St. Louis for first place in the Missouri Valley race, is expected to settle the question of conference leadership in the indoor sport.

Nebraska's prospects were brightened today when it was learned that Ted Page, a center of some six feet six inches in height, would be scholastically eligible for tonight's contest.

LEGION NOTES

Three trophies won by Glendale post No. 127, American Legion, in the Tournament of Roses, Pasadena, on January 1 were formally presented to the post last night by David O'Leary, adjutant of Pasadena post, on behalf of Malcom Fraser, secretary of the Tournament of Roses association. One of the trophies is the James A. Drain cup, valued at $350, presented to the post for having the most impressive float in the parade. Another is the cup for second prize in the Legion division and the third is the Alexander Pantages cup presented to the drum and bugle corps as first prize.

The James A. Drain cup has not been engraved, but fitting inscription will be put on it within the next few days. The inscription on the Alexander Pantages cup reads: "Pasadena Tournament of Roses, January 1, 1925; Special Prize, Best Drum Corps, American Legion Division, Presented by Alexander Pantages, Awarded to Glendale Post No. 127."

The formal presentations were made at the meeting held last night at 335 North Brand boulevard. Past Commander Joseph Wilson received the James A. Drain cup and the second prize trophy on behalf of the post, and K. F. Butler, director of the drum and bugle corps, received the Alexander Pantages trophy. Past Commander Wilson presented the two trophies to W. H. Richards, chairman of the float committee, who in turn presented them to the post.

Director Butler announced that plans are under way for the organization of a post band. The corps will give a dance on the night of February 12, he said. J. W. Everington reported on the membership campaign now being conducted. Glenn Mapes, chairman of the athletic committee, gave a report on the basketball game Thursday night. The meeting next Friday night, February 6, will be a business meeting, it was announced, and on February 13 the local post will be host to Monrovia and Tujunga Legionnaires.

J. H. Allard, chaplain of the post, was appointed to make arrangements for the publication of a monthly or weekly bulletin which will be sent to members of the post. William Knost, commander of the county council, gave a stirring address, and W. G. Collins, commander of the local G. A. R., spoke.

Four candidates were initiated last night. They were: Robert A. Trow, 401 South Witmer street, Los Angeles; Herman Ferer, 524 East Broadway; Stanley F. Bell, 437 West California street, and Max F. Kibler, 117 North Kenwood road.

Suspect In Dry Case Makes Not Guilty Plea

George E. Giardina of Los Angeles, arrested Thursday night on charges of reckless driving, violation of the Wright act and attempting to destroy evidence, pleaded not guilty yesterday afternoon when arraigned before Judge Frank H. Lowe of the Glendale police court, and his case was set for 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, February 11. He was represented by Attorney M. S. Cohen of Los Angeles. His bail was set at $500.

Kindergarten School Seen In 'Circus Day'

It was "Circus Day" Thursday at Central school, kindergarten pupils disgising as clowns, wild animals and entertainers popular under the big tents, to raise money for the International Kindergarten union convention in July in Los Angeles. Over $60 was realized. The children appearing in the circus were trained by Miss Alice Livsey and Mrs. Leola Adams. Mothers of the children provided home-made candy for sale.

EMPLOYMENT GAINS

DETROIT, Jan. 31.—Industrial employment here increased last week by 2196 to a total of 206,974, the highest point since last May. These figures compare with 237,813 a year ago, when production was proceeding at a mad pace in the automobile industry.

RADIO POLICE NEEDED TO CURB FAN

Amateurs Fill Ether With Signals Sent on All Lengths of Waves

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The task of "policing" the ether has grown to enormous proportions during the last two years and the "traffic cops" of the department of commerce, charged with the task of keeping amateurs and professionals within their allotted lanes and preventing them from breaking the "speed" laws by overstepping the intensity of their assigned signals, are crying loudly for instrumental help in keeping the roadways of the air open and clear.

The problem of the amateur is a big one with the governing officials of the radio and yet the department of commerce is anxious not to do anything to discourage the "hams" and the transmitting "bugs" lest thereby the actual development of the radio art is retarded. It is realized by all radio engineers that the amateurs of the country, by their experimenting and delving into the mysteries of the wireless principle, are making constant and definite contributions to the perfection of a science which admittedly is in its infancy.

Radio manufacturers are perhaps not as desirous as the amateurs of rushing radio changes, for each revolutionary improvement means the scrapping or the diminution in value of thousands of dollars' worth of equipment either in use or on the market. The amateur with his home made set is not happy unless he is making constant changes. Most of these changes naturally are valueless but occasionally a vast improvement is wrought.

High Wave Sets

The ordinary user of a radio receiving set really knows but very little of what is going on in the air about him. If he can "select" half a dozen or more of the high powered broadcasting stations of the country, he feels he is not only to be envied by other set owners but that he personally is a particularly accomplished operator.

Very few of even the most expensive of the sets on the market today have a range of selectivity which permits tuning in on the low wave lengths. For some reason or other the manufacturers seem to have gone in for the higher ranges, most of the sets being capable of reaching bands which are not in use.

When one does get a set, or so rearranges his set as to tune in on the amateur traffic at night, then and then only can he appreciate what is really going on in the ether world. There are something like 15,000 amateurs licensed in this country. Most of the amateurs dabble in transmitting only by code signals, but more and more of them are equipping their "laboratories"—some in cellars, some in attics and some relegated to the barn—with microphones, mostly home made, and by "swiping" and transforming current from the old lamp socket, they nightly engage in conversational tests with "friends" all across the country.

Talk Across Land

Naturally it is a radio dream that some day each person may have his own particular wave length and wattage so as to carry on wireless conversations at any time and place. The amateurs of today are approximating that dream while the average radio user knows nothing about it.

A listener-in here in Washington a few nights ago heard a local amateur calling by assigned signal number to a friend in Pittsburgh. He was calling through the microphone and said he was transmitting on 150 meters and 20 watt strength. He asked for an answer on a lower wave band. In a very few moments the answer came. Then followed a conversation between the two boys. Finally the lad in Pittsburgh exclaimed:

"You'll have to ring off, old fellow, I want to talk to a guy out in Kansas City. Good night."

The amateurs are on the air at all hours of the day and night, listening and "butting in," but each and every one of them is working in his own way to help solve the infinite problems of this new source of communication. They are difficult to keep in line, it is true. More than often they step "out of bounds" in their unquenchable enthusiasm and therefore the radio cops want measuring instruments which will permit them to gauge the strength of the transmitting signals as well as to record the length of the waves. The measuring of the waves is quite simple with instruments already possessed. The gauging of the field strength of the signals is something else again.

Princess Enters Movies

PRINCESS MARITZA (left) and her daughter, JASMONDE, who have returned to America where the mother will seek fame in motion pictures, and the daughter will study music. The princess is a former California girl.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—A princess is the latest to seek fame and fortune in the movies. The Princess Maritza de Broglie, who was Estelle Alexander, a famous California beauty before her marriage to Prince Ribert, has returned to the United States to enter the films.

She is organizing a company to star ehrself.

When she returned to this country she brought her daughter, Jasmonde, with her. The daughter will study music while her mother is occupied with the movies.

Club Women Challenge 'Defi' of London Knight

LONDON, Jan. 31.—Sir Ian Hamilton has been challenged to dine in a woman's club, and he has accepted the "defi." Sir Ian recently attacked women's clubs, charging that their "atmosphere of cocktails, scented cigarettes and bridge would make a licensed victualer dizzy."

Miss Irene Manby, of the Ladies' National club, challenged Sir Ian to dine at her club, without cocktails, and he has accepted the challenge.

STRAPLESS LINGERIE

LONDON, Jan. 31.—Strapless lingerie has taken a firm hold here. It has to be a firm hold to prevent one's losing vest and equanimity at the same time. The strapless vogue is especially applicable for wear with evening frocks. Nottingham lace is being freely used in the trimming of these garments.

SCARLET FOLLY

LONDON, Jan. 31.—Scarlet folly is what London is calling the craze for red which is seen everywhere. Red shoes, gloves and stockings and red bags are omnipresent and lucky is the woman who has rubies. If she has not and wants them, she must pay fabulous prices at present.

ALL-STRAW HAT

PARIS, Jan. 31.—One of the few small hats made entirely of straw to make its appearance, is of fine black picot in XVII century style. These have an extremely high-pointed crown at the top of which is posed a large black and gold butterfly.

MARKET SUMMARY

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—Pipe line and farm stocks of crude oil declined in December by 6,762,000 barrels, the greatest decline ever recorded in one month, according to the United States geological survey.

The government estimates the average daily production of petroleum in December at 1,826,355 barrls, a decrease of 50,212 from November.

The Illinios Steel Co., subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation, has blown in an additional furnace at South Chicago, making a total of twenty-two in operation out of twenty-seven.

Egg prices continued to drop in Los Angeles, although with less speed than has been evident the past few days. The greatest decline was in case counts which dropped two cents. Butter held steady at 46 cents. Extra eggs were quoted at 42 cents, case counts at 40 cents and pullet eggs at 39 cents.

LATIN STUDENTS USE CROSS WORDS

High School Teacher Finds Method Keeps Minds On Business

AUBURN, N. Y., Jan. 31.—Condition: High school students rushing to take Latin, and studying it for hours; result: high standings; cause: Latin cross-word puzzles.

Recognition of the cross-word puzzle as a medium of educational value today became an established fact when Latin cross-word puzzles appeared in classes at high school for the first time. Adoption of the new method of instruction for this subject was hailed by students as a revolutionary step.

Should the new idea prove effective in raising the scholastic standard in Latin, the cross-word puzzle may be adopted for use in other foreign languages, it was stated.

The system in use, one teacher explained, is distribution of puzzles to students to fill out with Latin words. The meaning of the word in English is given, and it is the task of the students to ascertain the meaning of the word in Latin.

Method Used

Some of the puzzles are constructed largely of simple words, despite the fact that they have a complicated appearance. In order to complete the work on one of the lessons an hour usually is necessary. Thus teachers are sure that their pupils are spending the required amount of study on the subject.

The Latin cross-word twisters are solved much the same as are the English puzzles. Each white space represents a Latin letter.

Teachers impress upon the students that they must not spend too much time on the larger words at first. The pupils are advised to get the small words, and these will give leads for the big ones.

MILLS MAKE CHANGE

ATLANTA, Jan. 31.—Following announcement that the Pepperell Manufacturing Co. of Biddeford, Maine, would erect a 20,000 spindle and 600 loom plant at Opelike, Alabama, a report was received today that the Appleton mill in New York contemplates moving their $10,000,000 plants to Gainesville, Georgia, which is in the cheap hydro-electric power belt.

GEORGIANS ELATED

SAVANNAH, Ga., Jan. 31.—No development in years has so enthused the business and financial leaders of this state as the recent shipping board order abolishing freight differentials in favor of some other Gulf and Atlantic ports. A state bond issue to provide funds for a $15,000,000 ocean terminal here is regarded as certain if Savannah is guaranteed equal rates with other ports.

SCARF FASHION

PARIS, Jan. 31.—Scarfs, nowadays, do not necessarily have two ends, since some are continuations of the dress. An afternoon dress, a black morrocaine, may have a band of gold embroidery running from hem to shoulder, where it becomes a scarf. This is wrapped about the neck and allowed to hang over one shoulder in cape effect.

PINE WOOD ORDERS

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 31.—Orders to Southern Pine association lumber mills decreased 6 per cent last week, while shipments shot up 16 per cent and production fell off 3.6 per cent. About 72,360,000 feet were ordered, 67,100,000 shipped and 70,687,000 produced. Unfilled orders total 275,700,000 feet.

The politicians who profess to love the people are operated on the self-service plan, also.

Hard Work on Stage and In Films for Belle Bennett Told by Writer

By MARIAN MARSHALL
For Southland News Service

HOLLFWOOD, Jan. 31.—What ho from Hollywood? The purveyors of publicity have the following to offer in three chapters:

The first is entitled "Belle Bennett Pays Price of Ability With Work."

Again Carmel Myers writ from Europe for the benefit those who do not travel, and Helene Chadwick wants to know who can repair a Paisley shawl. Here are the topics of the day:

When the hours of histrionic labor are computed, it will be found that Belle Bennett is the hardest worked actress in Hollywood! according to Pete Smith.

Started At Five Weeks

It started when Miss Bennett was five weeks old. Her father, Billy Bennett of tent shows fame, needed a prop baby to place in the arms of his leading woman. The leading woman happened to be Belle Bennett, his wife.

Thus it was that Baby Belle's sleep was disturbed each night in order that she might cry realistically.

Then the 7-year-old child who was engaged by her father to play in "Ten Nights In a Barroom" was taken ill. And though Belle Bennett was only three and a half years old and some doubt was expressed whether in her "fat and funny" appearance she could be pathetic, Belle had to play the part because she could play it well.

Broke Theatre Records

And when she became a leading woman in stock at the Alcazar theater, San Francisco, she was compelled to go with less than four hours' sleep nightly for two years—all because she broke the theatre's records. During that time she had only four meals at tables, and they were at banquets at which she spoke. All other times she had to be served in her dressing room.

When she began her picture career she was compelled to make fourteen Triangle pictures in less than a year!

During her New York stage career she was so much in demand that A. H. Woods, her manager, subleased her to David Belasco and to other managers. There has been no rest for Belle Bennett.

Carmel Myers Writes

Dentists who have been educated in the United States have an almost complete monopoly of the fashionable and wealthy practice of Rome, according to Carmel Myters. In a letter just received by Hollywood friends she comments on the fact that four of the largest dental offices in the Italian city are conducted by Americans, or Italians who came to this country for their professional education.

"People in Europe do not, as a rule pay the attention to mouth hygiene that even the poor and uneducated do in the United States," Miss Myers says. "Toothbrushes and dental cream have but a small sale here. Even in Germany and Austria, the center of medical research and education this is true.

Bad Teeth Spoil Beauty

"Often the beauty of the most charming of European women is spoiled by bad teeth.

"Just as the ambitious medical student of the United States, or of Italy, looks forward to a post-graduate course in Vienna or Berlin, so does the ambitious European dental student look forward to study in an American university. And those who have obtained this coveted privilege do not hesitate to let it be known.

Her Shawl Is Torn

Can a Paisley shawl be repaired is a question Helene Chadwick, film star, is worriedly trying to find an answer to. For a genuine Paisley brought from England more than a century ago by her great-grandfather Clark (who by the way was Champ Clark's grandfather), and by his father from India, has been torn in half.

Draped on a wall behind the piano in the living room of her Beverly Hills home the heirloom served as a background for a painting hung over it. The other day the heavily framed picture pulled loose from its fastenings and fell to the floor, tearing the shawl as it went.

EGG SHIPMENTS

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 31.—Warmer weather has resulted in a heavy increase in egg shipments and a corresponding drop in retail prices. There is a movement on foot by the citizens' supervisory bond issue committee to have the city establish a check on prices to be charged by dealers who use the new union market to be built under the new $87,000,000 bond issue.

FOR BOBBED HAIR

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—In the rapid evolution of the bob and the transformation today, monogrammed barrettes have become popular to hold strands of hair in the places which

A COUGH REMEDY WITHOUT OPIATES

Many cough preparations contain some one or more harmful drugs which are added to take the place of opiates. None of these narcotic substitutes have ever been used in FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND. The name of every ingredient is plainly printed on every carton. You know what you are taking when you take Foley's. It clings to the throat. Good for old and young. You have a cough, why not try it. STEEL HOUSES SOLVE HOME SHORTAGE

England's Problem Becoming More Serious Daily Seen Solved

By DAVID M. CHURCH

For International News Service.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—Steel houses may offer the solution of England's perplexing housing problem. The squalid surroundings in which the submerged classes of the great English cities are living has forced governmental action to provide proper housing facilities, and speed in the provision of these houses is an essential. Therefore the government has cast about for a type of house that can be quickly and strongly erected.

Lord Weir has devised a steel house, and is now manufacturing these "residences" in factories in Glasgow. The house is constructed upon a timber framework, with steel plate outside, and lined inside with material composed of compressed wood pulp which appears very much like a thick, smooth-surfaced cardboard.

The government is prepared to grant subsidies for the erection of these houses, and the cost will depend largely upon the number that are erected. The production is multiple and materials for the houses are easily obtainable.

Labor Attacks

The Labor party has bitterly attacked the government for not carrying out a program which depends almost entirely on the government for the erection of houses. The Baldwin government, however, is of the opinion that private enterprise is the best way in which to cope with the problem, and exhibits statistics to show that private enterprise last year erected 95,352 houses a figure, however, which is about 35,000 below the average of the pre-war years.

While the housing question is being dealt with there is a considerable amount of inquiry being made as to actual living conditions in the more congested areas in England. In Glasgow conditions are such that the slums there have been called "the cancer of the empire." In London conditions are little better, if any. In the Lambeth region it is very easy to find innumerable families living in two rooms, with nine people sleeping in two small rooms.

Acute Shortage

Many of the houses have been condemned, but despite condemnation they are still rented to people who have no other shelter. The sanitary accommodations in some of the better class tenements are deplorable.

The shortage of housing has given rise to overcrowding that threatens to become a menace to the health of the nation. There are many who have no permanent homes at all, but who wander about at night sleeping in hallways and under arches.

Some working men have been driven in desperation to living in tents in the suburbs, while others have erected small huts for their families out of corrugated iron.

This question has been a live issue ever since Lloyd George promised "homes fit for heroes to live in" to the men who fought in France, but as yet no government—coalition, Tory or Labor—has succeeded in alleviating the discomfort of insufficient housing.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, Jan. 31.—Residents of the La Crescenta valley packed the house at the second meeting of the taxpayers in regard to voting bonds to enlarge the present schools and to build a new school in the west end. C. E. Culberson in opening the meeting asked Rev. Kelso to lead in the singing of "America" and the "Star Spangled Banner" also to read an invocation. Mr. Culberson stated the aims of the board in doing what its members felt was the best thing for the entire valley at this time—that four rooms be added to the Montrose building, three to the La Crescenta and a site in the westend be be bought.

Mark S. Collins offered as a motion the suggestion the board if possible, buy a site in the westend and erect a two-room building for the present. Mr. Culberson replied it might be better to add three rooms to Montrose two to La Crescenta and two in the west-end.

Mr. Rienhard, a member of the Board of Supervisors of one of the largest schools in Los Angeles asked criticisms of any of the teachers be made the board in writing as it would make their actions more effective and less embarrassing. He said the board had felt the best thing to do at present was to purchase a lot in the westend and concentrate on the enlarging of the two plants now in operation. However, if the people wanted another school the board would be glad to meet them half way and do what they could with the money voted.

Mr. Culberson turned the meeting over, at this time, to C. A. Haskins, chairman of the previous meeting, who timed the speakers rising to discuss various issues. Mr. Worley of the Union High school of Glendale gave a short talk on the school problems there, advising the people here to think of buying needed sites at this time while land was at a reasonable price. In speaking of the taking of the westend to the district this week Mark Collins stated there is now an added bonding district of 640 acres in the valley.

Mr. A. R. Cochran, president of the Montrose Realty Board offered the resolution passed at the meeting of this body supporting the school board with a vote of confidence in its proceedings in the matter. J. O'Leary of North New York avenue made an especial plea for the little folk who have dangerous boulevards to pass. After discussing pro and con Mr. Culberson asked for the floor saying: "The board is willing to build a three-room addition at Montrose, two-room addition to La Crescenta school and buy a site and build two rooms in the westend." Notices will be posted for the election on the bond issue during the second week in February.

Graduation exercises for the mid-term class were held last night in the La Crescenta school house at 8 p. m. The program follows: March of the graduating class, school orchestra, invocation, Rev. Kelso; "Lassie o' Mine," Girls' Glee club; forestry, Elmo Champ Carter; "On the Road to Mandalay," Girls' Glee club; "Marquita," Boys' Glee club; "Uncle Sam's Air Mail," Marjory Joan Wildhack; address, A. L. Ferguson, vice-principal Glendale Union High school; presentation of diplomas; "Swing Song," Girls' Glee club.

Following is the list of graduates: Mildred Carmen Biescar, Robert Bakefelt, Majorie Sarah Cotton, Wesley Gerald Denman, Jeanette Gold, Constance Eleanor Angier, Elmo Champ Carter, John J. Hansen, Claude Willard Key, Georgianna Kidd, Christopher A. Looke, Roy Morton Peck, William F. Sprinkle, Jr., Marjory Joan Wildhack. The girls wore "middies" with blue pleated skirts, the boys white shirts, blue trousers. The class colors are blue and yellow.

MONTROSE NOTES

MONTROSE, Jan. 31.—Matters of great interest to the valley were discussed last night at the board of directors' meeting of the Montrose Chamber of Commerce when representatives from a motion picture concern were present to confer with the board in regard to making pictures in this vicinity. The company stated it would require at least from three to five acres of land for a proposed building 60x100 feet for the first unit of a plant, giving the assurance that the people employed by the concern would be of the highest type. The chamber directors endorsed the proposition and will bring it before the people at the regular monthly meeting next Tuesday in the Montrose schoolhouse.

Theo. Belanger reported on the question of suitable street lights to be placed at the intersection of Montrose and Honolulu avenues. A letter of protest will go forward to the regional planning commission protesting any move to change the names of the principal business streets of the valley.

Mrs. C. A. Haskins has been entertaining as her house guest during the week Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Montgomery of Los Angeles and Dr. and Mrs. S. P. Opp of Inglewood.

There will be a meeting of representative business men of La Crescenta valley on Monday night to work out plans for the Crescenta Mutual Water Co., which is the third largest mutual company in the state of California.

A good time is promised those who attend the dance given this evening by the Angeles Forest Protection association, in the Fowler auditorium at the corner of Honolulu and Los Angeles avenue. Refreshments will be served by members of the Woman's club the proceeds of the affair will go to the fire boys' fund for equipment to be used during the summer months. As the members of the local branch of the association are raising money for a clubhouse where they may meet to drill and have social times every resident of the valley is asked to support these dances given by the boys. Tickets will be the usual price, Folseys' Sciots band of Glendale furnishing the music.
